YUM! BRANDS TO APPEAL JURY FINDING AGAINST TACO BELL

LOUISVILLE, KY. - June 4, 2003 - Yum! Brands, Inc. (NYSE: YUM) today announced it plans to appeal a U.S. District Court verdict against Taco Bell Corp. in which the jury found for plaintiffs who claimed to have created the Taco Bell "chihuahua" character formerly used in Taco Bell's advertisements.

In Wrench v. Taco Bell Corp., the jury awarded $30,174,000 to plaintiffs Joseph Shields and Thomas Rinks. The case was filed in 1998. It is the Company's expectation that plaintiffs might file for pre-judgment interest, which if awarded, could range between $5-10 million. "Taco Bell continues to strongly believe that the chihuahua character was created by the Chiat Day Advertising Agency, not the plaintiffs, and we intend to appeal the jury's verdict," said Laurie Gannon, Taco Bell spokesperson.

In view of this jury verdict, the Company will take a special charge of $.06 per share (excluding interest) in the second quarter ending June 14, 2003. As disclosed in the Company's first quarter earnings release issued on April 23, 2003, the Company's second quarter and full-year EPS guidance assumed no material impact from special items. If unsuccessful upon appeal, the Company intends to seek reimbursement from its insurance carriers and Taco Bell's former advertising agency.
