Calgary, Alberta, February 5, 2004 Shaw announced today further detail to its guidance for fiscal 2004.

As previously announced in Shaw's first quarter earnings release dated January 20, 2004, due to its successful first quarter performance, Shaw increased its consolidated free cash flow target for fiscal 2004 to $275 million from $195 million to $250 million. Further details are as follows:

Capital expenditures <sup>2</sup>	366	390 410
Free cash flow <sup>3</sup>	275	195 250

1. Operating income is earnings before interest, amortization and taxes.
2. Capital expenditures include equipment subsidies.
3. Free cash flow is defined as operating income before amortization less: interest, entitlements on equity instruments (net of tax), cash taxes, capital expenditures and equipment subsidies.

The first quarter performance demonstrated our continued success in effectively managing capital resources and producing strong operating results through a combination of marketing and cost savings initiatives. We believe this continued success will enable management to achieve the Company's updated fiscal 2004 guidance," said Jim Shaw, CEO of Shaw Communications.
