Officers

On January 19, 2009, Pro-Pharmaceuticals, Inc. ("the Company") entered into an Employment Agreement with Maureen Foley, the Company's Chief Operating Officer and an employee since May 1, 2001. Under the Agreement, which is subject to annual review, Ms. Foley receives a base salary of $185,000 and the Company's standard employee, life, disability and health insurance policies. If Ms. Foley is terminated by the Company anytime after November 1, 2001, other than "for cause," as defined in the agreement, she is entitled to two months base salary plus one month base salary for each year of service, not to exceed six months, and continuation of benefits for six months. If she terminates her employment for "good reason" or is terminated following a "change of control," as each term is defined in the agreement, she is entitled to a lump sum equal to her base salary and accrued vacation through the date of termination, base salary for six months, continuation of (or comparable) health plan benefits for her and her family, and immediate vesting of any unvested stock option or other right to acquire securities of the Company. The Agreement requires Ms. Foley to assign inventions and other intellectual property to the Company which she conceives or reduces to practice during employment and for one year thereafter, and to maintain its confidential information during employment and thereafter. Ms. Foley is also subject to a (i) non-competition provision that extends for a period of six months after termination of her employment and (ii) non-solicitation provision that extends for twelve months after termination of her employment.

On January 19, 2009, the Company entered into Amended and Restated Employment Agreement with Anthony D. Squeglia, the Company's Chief Financial Officer, which amended and restated his employment agreement dated December 20, 2007. Under the Agreement, which is subject to annual review, Mr. Squeglia receives a base salary of $180,000 and the Company's standard employee, life, disability and health insurance policies. If Mr. Squeglia is terminated by the Company anytime after six months following his original date of hire (October 31, 2001), other than "for cause," as defined in the agreement, he is entitled to two months base salary plus one month based salary for each year of service, not to exceed six months, and continuation of benefits for six months. If he terminates his employment for "good reason" or is terminated following a "change of control," as each term is defined in the agreement, he is entitled to a lump sum equal to his base salary and accrued vacation through the date of termination, base salary for six months, continuation of (or comparable) health plan benefits for him and his family, and immediate vesting of any unvested stock option or other right to acquire securities of the Company. The Agreement requires Mr. Squeglia to assign inventions and other intellectual property to the Company which he conceives or reduces to practice during employment and for one year thereafter, and to maintain its confidential information during employment and thereafter. Mr. Squeglia is also subject to a (i) non-competition provision that extends for a period of six months after termination of his employment and (ii) non-solicitation provision that extends for twelve months after termination of his employment.
