Item 8.01 Other Events.

On March 8, 2006, Prudential Financial, Inc. (the Company) entered into an agreement to acquire Allstate Financial's variable annuity business through a reinsurance transaction. The Company's initial investment in the business, reflecting total consideration to Allstate, related taxes, and capital requirements, is expected to be approximately $560 million. The payment to Allstate is subject to adjustment for market movements between signing and closing. Over the course of a transition period of up to 24 months from closing, the Company will assume the administration of Allstate Financial's in-force variable annuities, with account values of approximately $16 billion as of December 31, 2005. As part of the transaction, the Company will be granted exclusive distribution rights to sell variable annuity products through Allstate's proprietary distribution force of approximately 13,700 independent contractors and financial professionals. The transaction will also enable the Company to build and enhance its relationships with Allstate's non-proprietary channel, including a number of major national wirehouses and regional securities firms. With respect to Allstate's Bank channel, Allstate Financial will continue to market variable annuity products through its extensive set of bank distribution relationships by transitioning to an Allstate-branded, Prudential-designed variable annuity. Allstate Financial's annuity contracts will retain the names of the Allstate affiliate underwriting companies but will be administered by the Company after the transition period. Allstate Financial's variable annuity operations and systems, most operating personnel, legal entities, leases and other contracts and pre-closing contingent liabilities are not included in the transaction. Completion of the transaction, currently expected to occur during the second quarter of 2006, is subject to customary closing conditions, including regulatory approvals.
