Item 5.02 Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers

On June 9, 2008, Sean G. Daly, senior vice president, Chief Financial Officer and principal financial and accounting officer of the Camden National Corporation (the Company) tendered his resignation, effective July 3, 2008. A native of Rhode Island, Daly cited a desire to be closer to his family as the determining factor in his resignation.

Camden National Corporation has benefited from Sean's leadership, said Robert W. Daigle, the Company's president and Chief Executive Officer. Sean played an integral role in our recent merger with Union Trust and he was instrumental in securing Camden National Corporation's place on the NASDAQ Global Select Market, continued Mr. Daigle.

The Company plans to immediately begin a search for Daly's replacement.

Mr. Daigle will recommend to the Company's Board of Directors the appointment of Susan M. Westfall to serve as interim principal financial and accounting officer, effective upon Mr. Daly's departure from the Company. Ms. Westfall, 58, has served as our senior vice president and corporate controller for Camden National Corporation since 2001. A 27-year veteran of the Company, Westfall has served in several leadership roles in the organization including chief financial officer from 1999 to 2001.

There is no arrangement or understanding pursuant to which Ms. Westfall expects to be selected as interim principal financial and accounting officer. There are no related party transactions between the Company and Ms. Westfall reportable under Item 404(a) of Regulation S-K.
