Item 2.05 Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities

Effective February 22, 2016, Ignyta, Inc. (the Company), after conducting a strategic review that included a thorough and complete review of its programs and resources, ceased all development activities relating to its RXDX-103, RXDX-107 and RXDX-108 programs, and some of its Spark discovery programs. The Company does not expect to incur any material expenses in connection with the cessation of activities relating to these programs, and the Company expects to reduce its operating expenses as a result of such cessation of activities.
