Eni: assessment of options for the company's stake in Saipem put on hold

San Donato Milanese (Milan), December 11, 2014 - Last July Eni introduced a new organizational structure with even greater focus on the oil & gas business. In this context, the shareholding in Saipem has been identified as no longer in line with the strategic objectives of the Group.

Following this decision, Eni had started an assessment of a range of options for its stake in Saipem with the support of a financial advisor. Recently, market conditions have become increasingly volatile. This has led Eni to put on hold this assessment whilst still confirming the above strategy.

Eni adopts the new recommendations of the Corporate Governance Code

Rome, December 11, 2014 - The Board of Directors resolved today to adopt the new recommendations of the Corporate Governance Code for listed companies approved on July 14, 2014. The Board of Directors acknowledged that Eni's corporate governance system is already largely consistent with the new recommendations.

The Corporate Governance Code, as amended on July 14, 2014, will be available on the Company's website, in the Governance section, with particular enhancement of solutions and improvements. Some of these solutions were already adopted by Eni and have been updated now to include and specify the role assigned on May 9, 2014 by the Board of Directors to the Chairman of the Board with regard to the internal audit function.

Detailed information on the implementation of the Code will be provided in the annual Corporate Governance Report to be published in 2015.

Eni successfully completed the production test on Minsala Marine 1 exploration well Offshore Congo

During the test the well delivered in excess of 5,000 barrels per day oil and 14 million standard cubic feet of gas per day

San Donato Milanese (Milan), December 15, 2014 - Eni has successfully completed the production test on the Minsala Marine 1 NFW, located in the Marine XII Block offshore Congo, 35 kilometers from the shoreline and 12 kilometers from the recent Nené Marine discovery. During the production test the well delivered in natural flow in excess of 5,000 barrels of oil per day and 14 million standard cubic feet of gas per day from an opened section of 37 meters out of the 420 meters oil column identified in the discovery. The oil quality is 41 degrees API.

Eni preliminarily estimates the potential of Minsala Marine discovery to be about 1 billion barrels of oil equivalent in place, of which 80% is oil. The Company has scheduled an appraisal plan for the discovery and has begun studying the commercial development of its significant hydrocarbons reserves.

"The production test results has exceeded expectations and enables us to plan a fast commercial development of the important Minsala Marine find, similarly to what had been done at Nené Marine" said Claudio Descalzi, CEO of Eni.

In the last four years, Eni has been carrying out a targeted exploration program in the pre-salt geological plays of West Africa's shallow waters, achieving successful results. In this play, Eni has already discovered nearly 4 billion of barrels of equivalent oil in place, between Congo and Gabon. In the Marine XII permit specifically, there have been three discoveries: Minsala Marine, Litchjendily marine and Nené Marine. These are all located in conventional waters close to existing infrastructure and can therefore be brought into production shortly and at competitive costs.

Eni through its own subsidiary Eni Congo SA is Operator of Marine XII with a 65% share stake. Eni has been operating in Congo since 1968 and currently produces approximately 110,000 barrels of oil per day of equity production. Eni has been present in Sub Saharan Africa since the 60s and presently is involved in exploration and production projects in Angola, Congo, Ghana, Gabon, Mozambique, Nigeria, Democratic Republic of Congo, Kenya and Liberia. Eni currently produces around 450,000 of oil equivalent per day in Sub-Saharan Africa, due to successful and rapidly growing exploration activity.
