Woodbridge and BCE Announce New Ownership Structure for Bell Globemedia

Teachers and Torstar Join as New Shareholders

Woodbridge to increase position to 40%

BCE to maintain 20% interest and receive $1.3 billion in cash

Torstar and Ontario Teachers Pension Plan each to acquire 20%

BCE and Bell Globemedia enter new agreement for innovative content distribution

TORONTO, Ontario December 2, 2005 The current shareholders of Bell Globemedia The Woodbridge Company Limited and BCE Inc. (TSX/NYSE: BCE) today announced that Ontario Teachers Pension Plan and Torstar Corporation (TSX: TS.nv.b) will join them as shareholders in Canada's leading multi-media company.

Woodbridge, the Toronto-based holding company of the Thomson family, will increase its ownership from 31.5 percent to 40 percent. BCE will continue to be an important shareholder, with 20 percent, down from 68.5 percent. The two new shareholders Teachers and Torstar will each acquire a 20 percent stake in BGM. The changes are subject to regulatory approval, including the CRTC.

This all-Canadian shareholder group will provide the continuity and stability, along with access to new capital, needed for BGM to continue on its successful growth strategy and seize new opportunities.

Ivan Fecan, President and Chief Executive Officer of BGM and Chief Executive Officer of CTV, said: The continuing support of BCE and Woodbridge and the addition of Teachers and Torstar represents a strong vote of confidence in our performance over the last five years and in our plans for the future.

Edgar Filing: BCE INC - Form 6-K

BGM's assets include the CTV television network, Canada's leading private broadcaster, with 21 stations across Canada; The Globe and Mail, Canada's national newspaper; and fifteen specialty television services, many of them market leaders. The transaction will have no effect on Bell Globemedia's senior leadership, operations or mix of business.

Ken Thomson, Chairman of Woodbridge, said: We strongly believe that Bell Globemedia has a tremendous future in the rapidly changing media sector. Today's announcement positions the company to seize those opportunities. This new shareholder group brings together four great Canadian businesses to create an even stronger and more dynamic Bell Globemedia.

Bell Globemedia has tremendous potential as Canada's flagship media enterprise and, together with our partners, we will be actively engaged in its future growth, said Michael Sabia, President and Chief Executive Officer of BCE. BCE sees its participation in Bell Globemedia as a significant opportunity for our company, particularly as we leverage our continued access to Bell Globemedia's content for our growth platforms—wireless, Internet and television. Our ongoing involvement with Bell Globemedia will drive our efforts to develop innovative, next generation services for our customers.

This investment gives Torstar substantial exposure to conventional and specialty television in Canada and strengthens Torstar's position as a broadly-based media company, said Robert Prichard, President and Chief Executive Officer of Torstar. By investing in partnership with Woodbridge, Teachers' and BCE, Torstar has established a meaningful position in the Canadian television industry. As digital technologies and the Internet continue to shape the media landscape, we look forward to exploring new business development opportunities with Bell Globemedia in these areas. We expect to build on our earlier success in growing Workopolis—jointly created by Torstar and Bell Globemedia—to explore new complementary Internet-based businesses.

Robert Prichard went on to say: The Thomson family, through its steady ownership interest in The Globe and Mail, has long demonstrated a deep respect for editorial independence, journalistic freedoms and the importance of great newspapers to our nation. At Torstar we share these values and will continue to be equally vigilant with respect to the independence of the Toronto Star and our other newspapers.

Our investment in Bell Globemedia is consistent with our mission to maximize the returns we deliver to our members, said Jim Leech, Senior Vice-President of Teachers' Private Capital, the private investing arm of the Ontario Teachers' Pension Plan. Bell Globemedia is an industry leader, with strong brands, consistent performance and an experienced management team that has demonstrated an ability to execute against its strategy and a commitment to building for the future.

BCE and Bell Globemedia have also signed a new commercial agreement that calls for the two companies to work together on new initiatives that will use BCE distribution platforms to maximize the value of Bell Globemedia content. Among a number of new joint initiatives that are expected to be announced in the New Year are customized news and sports—made for mobile—video clips and a next generation TSN Extra, offering a first-to-market Interactive TV experience to Bell ExpressVu customers.

Details of the Transaction

Under the new shareholder structure, Woodbridge will own 40 percent of Bell Globemedia and BCE, Teachers' and Torstar will each own 20 percent. At the closing, which is expected to take place in the third quarter of 2006 assuming regulatory approvals have been obtained, Teachers' and Torstar will each purchase its interest in Bell Globemedia from BCE for $283 million and Woodbridge will purchase its additional 8.5 percent interest from BCE for $120 million. These transactions value Bell Globemedia at approximately ten times EBITDA.

At the time of closing, Torstar, Teachers' and Woodbridge will each invest in Bell Globemedia on the same financial valuation which anticipates an enterprise value in the range of $2.6 billion to $2.7 billion and an equity value of $1.413 billion.

In conjunction with the agreement to make these ownership changes, Bell Globemedia will restructure its capital on a basis more appropriate to ongoing operations through additional borrowing and a return of capital to BCE and Woodbridge. The recapitalization is expected to be completed in January 2006.

The recapitalization of Bell Globemedia and the sale of its shares to Torstar, Teachers and Woodbridge will see BCE receive cash proceeds of approximately $1.3 billion, including $607 million as a return of capital. Together with its remaining 20 percent interest in Bell Globemedia, these transactions value BCE's pre-recapitalization interest in Bell Globemedia at approximately $1.575 billion.

Torstar will equity account for the investment and will fund it with debt. Torstar expects the acquisition to be modestly accretive, apart from any potential amortization of intangible assets.

Closing Terms and Conditions

The plan is subject to a number of approvals and closing conditions, including approval by the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) and the Competition Bureau. BCE and Woodbridge said filings to commence the review process are expected to be made promptly and a decision is anticipated in 2006. In addition, BGM expects to obtain the necessary incremental bank debt this month and make the cash distributions to its current shareholders in January 2006.

About Bell Globemedia

Bell Globemedia is Canada's premier multi-media company with ownership interests in Canada's leading media properties including: CTV Inc., the number-one private broadcaster, and The Globe and Mail, the leading national daily newspaper. CTV operates 21 conventional television stations across Canada and offers a wide-range of quality news, sports, information and entertainment programming. It has the number-one national newscast, CTV News with Lloyd Robertson, and is the number-one choice for viewers.

Additionally, CTV has interests in 15 specialty channels, including Canada's number-one specialty channel, TSN, along with the companion website tsn.ca. Other specialty properties include CTV Newsnet, The Comedy Network, Report on Business Television, Réseau des sports, Discovery Channel and OLN, along with several digital specialty channels, Animal Planet, Discovery Civilization, Discovery HD Theatre, ESPN Classic, NHL Network, CTV Travel and RIS Info Sports. Each channel features a complementary interactive and dynamic website.

The Globe and Mail publishes Report on Business magazine, Canada's pre-eminent business publication, and also owns many interactive properties including globeandmail.com, globeinvestorgold.com, globeadvisor.com, globefund.com and globetechnology.com, and has a 40 percent interest in Canada's leading provider of Internet recruitment and job search solutions, workopolis.com.

Other Bell Globemedia investments include: a 15 percent interest in Maple Leaf Sports and Entertainment, which owns the Toronto Maple Leafs, Toronto Raptors and the Air Canada Centre; and a 50 percent interest in Dome Productions, a North American leader in the provision of mobile high definition production facilities.

With stations, news bureaus and offices in all of Canada's major cities, as well as international CTV news bureaus and international Globe and Mail bureaus, Bell Globemedia ensures that what interests Canadians locally, nationally and internationally makes it to the screen, into print and on to the Internet.

Forward Looking Statements

Certain statements made in this press release, including, but not limited to, the expected closing of the transactions referred to herein and the anticipated future business prospects of Bell Globemedia, and other statements that are not historical facts, are forward-looking and are subject to important risks, uncertainties and assumptions. The results or events predicted in these forward-looking statements may differ materially from actual results or events.

Factors that could cause results or events to differ materially from current expectations include, among other things, the fact that the expected closing of the transactions referred to in this press release is subject to a number of approvals and closing conditions, including approval by the CRTC and the Competition Bureau, and other closing conditions that are customary in a transaction of this nature. Other factors that could cause results or events to differ materially from current expectations also include, among other things, the fact that Bell Globemedia's future business prospects are subject to a number of risks and assumptions including: Bell Globemedia's dependence on advertising which in turn is affected by competitive pressures, including Bell Globemedia's ability to attract and retain viewers and readers, and by general economic and market conditions; competitive pressures in the specialty and conventional television markets and increased competition for fewer print customers; the fact that most of Bell Globemedia's advertising contracts are short-term contracts that advertisers can cancel on short notice; increasing fragmentation in television markets; the development and adoption of new media distribution technologies; and the impact of pending or future litigation, adverse changes in laws or regulations, and adverse regulatory initiatives and proceedings, including decisions by the CRTC including those that might adversely affect Bell Globemedia's broadcast licences.

For additional information with respect to certain of these and other factors, please refer to BCE's annual information form for the year ended December 31, 2004 dated March 2, 2005 filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, under Form 40-F, and filed with the Canadian provincial securities regulatory authorities and to Torstar's annual information form for the year ended December 31, 2004 filed with the Canadian provincial securities regulatory authorities. The forward-looking statements contained in this press release represent our and Bell Globemedia's expectations as of December 2, 2005 and, accordingly, are subject to change after such date. However, we disclaim any intention and assume no obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.
