CVRD Clarifies News Published in the Press

Rio de Janeiro, September 23 Companhia Vale do Rio Doce (CVRD) clarifies the news published in the press with respect to an investment in a new iron ore mine in the Southern Range, in the Carajás Mineral Province, State of Pará, Brazil.

The Company has been conducting studies with the aim to develop the additional production capacity of the Southern Range to the extent that this is required by the evolution of future global demand for iron ore. However, such project has not been submitted to the approval of the Company's Executive Directors or Board of Directors.

Currently, CVRD is investing approximately US$ 800 million in projects to increase its iron ore production capacity in order to meet the demand forecasted for the next five years.

This press release may contain statements that express management's expectations about future events or results rather than historical facts. These forward-looking statements involve risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected in forward-looking statements, and CVRD cannot give assurance that such statements will prove correct. These risks and uncertainties include factors: relating to the Brazilian economy and securities markets, which exhibit volatility and can be adversely affected by developments in other countries; relating to the iron ore business and its dependence on the global steel industry, which is cyclical in nature; and relating to the highly competitive industries in which CVRD operates. For additional information on factors that could cause CVRD's actual results to differ from expectations reflected in forward-looking statements, please see CVRD's reports filed with the Brazilian Comissão de Valores Mobiliários and the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.
