FOREST LABORATORIES ISSUES STATEMENT REGARDING LITIGATION WITH ICAHN

NEW YORK, August 5, 2011 Forest Laboratories, Inc. (NYSE: FRX) today issued the following statement in connection with the Delaware Chancery Court's decision to allow entities affiliated with Carl Icahn to lift confidentiality restrictions on certain documents relating to the potential action by the Office of the Inspector General of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS-OIG) to exclude Howard Solomon, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Forest, from participating in federal healthcare programs:

Mr. Icahn's decision to publicize the Delaware litigation is a sideshow and an effort to advance his self-serving agenda in his proxy contest. The documents to which he refers demonstrate what Forest has said all along: that Mr. Solomon has never been accused of any wrongdoing; that the potential exclusion is based solely on his association with Forest; and that HHS-OIG is considering embarking on an unprecedented and unjustified action.

Icahn is wrong when he states Forest that does not have a plan to deal with the contingency of Mr. Solomon's potential exclusion. As previously announced, the Forest Board does have a succession plan. In the event that HHS-OIG decides to move forward and Mr. Solomon's legal challenges are unsuccessful, the succession plan will be implemented, Mr. Solomon will step aside and the Company will continue to do business with the federal government.

In trumpeting a single request regarding other Forest executives, Icahn is seizing on a fleeting piece of a complex, six-year negotiation. The fact is that there was no basis for the government's request—it was refused and the government quickly withdrew it. If anything, the documents reflect how the government allowed Forest to agree to a final settlement with the expectation that the entire exclusion issue had been dropped, only to have it raised later by HHS-OIG in an unprecedented action and without a valid basis.

Icahn's characterization of Forest's Board process is similarly misleading. The Board's determination to challenge HHS-OIG's unprecedented action was made by a majority of independent directors, advised by outside counsel, who were fully informed of the matters concerning the related Department of Justice investigation and its resolution over a six-year period.

Icahn is misusing these documents in an effort to draw attention away from the fact that his nominees are unqualified and conflicted by their service on the boards of companies with which Forest competes for product opportunities. Forest continues to perform well—outperforming both the S&P 500 Index and the Amex Pharmaceutical Index (DRG) over the short term and long term, and it has developed one of the strongest and most exciting product portfolios in the industry. Forest urges shareholders not to be distracted and to remain focused on the important issues before the Company.
