SUMMARY

The following information should be read together with the information contained in other parts of this prospectus supplement and in the accompanying prospectus. It may not contain all the information that is important to you. You should carefully read this entire prospectus supplement and the accompanying prospectus to understand fully the terms of the capital securities and the related guarantee and junior subordinated debentures, as well as the tax and other considerations that are important to you in making a decision about whether to invest in the capital securities. To the extent the following information is inconsistent with the information in the accompanying prospectus, you should rely on the following information. You should pay special attention to the Risk Factors section of this prospectus supplement to determine whether an investment in the capital securities is appropriate for you.

About U.S. Bancorp

We are a multi-state financial holding company with $204 billion in assets at June 30, 2005, headquartered in Minneapolis, Minnesota. We were incorporated in Delaware in 1929 and operate as a financial holding company and a bank holding company under the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956. We provide a full range of financial services, including lending and depository services, cash management, foreign exchange and trust and investment management services. We also engage in credit card services, merchant and automated teller machine processing, mortgage banking, insurance, brokerage, leasing and investment banking. We are the parent company of U.S. Bank.

Our banking subsidiaries are engaged in the general banking business, principally in domestic markets. Our subsidiaries range in size from $25 million to $128 billion in deposits at December 31, 2004, and provide a wide range of products and services to individuals, businesses, institutional organizations, governmental entities and other financial institutions. Commercial and consumer lending services are principally offered to customers within our domestic markets, to domestic customers with foreign operations and within certain niche national venues. Lending services include traditional credit products as well as credit card services, financing and import/export trade, asset-backed lending, agricultural finance and other products. Leasing products are offered through bank leasing subsidiaries. Depository services include checking accounts, savings accounts and time certificate contracts. Ancillary services such as foreign exchange, treasury management and receivable lock-box collection are provided to corporate customers. Our bank and trust subsidiaries provide a full range of asset management and fiduciary services for individuals, estates, foundations, businesses and charitable organizations.

Our nonbanking subsidiaries primarily offer investment and insurance products to our customers principally within their markets and mutual fund processing services to a broad range of mutual funds.

Banking and investment services are provided through a network of 2,383 banking offices principally operating in 24 states in the Midwest and West. U.S. Bancorp operates a network of 4,877 branded ATMs and provides 24-hour, seven day a week telephone customer service. Mortgage banking services are provided through banking offices and loan production offices throughout our markets. Consumer lending products may be originated through banking offices, indirect correspondents, brokers or other lending sources, and a consumer finance division. We are also one of the largest providers of Visa® corporate and purchasing card services and corporate trust services in the United States. A wholly-owned subsidiary, NOVA Information Systems, Inc., provides merchant processing services directly to merchants through a network of banking affiliations. Affiliates of NOVA Information Systems, Inc. provide similar merchant services in Canada and segments of Europe. These foreign operations are not significant to us.

Our common stock is traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the ticker symbol USB. Our principal executive offices are located at 800 Nicollet Mall, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55402, and our telephone number is (651) 466-3000.

About USB Capital VII

USB Capital VII is a statutory trust organized under Delaware law by the trustees and us. USB Capital VII was established solely for the following purposes:

to issue the capital securities, which represent undivided beneficial ownership interests in USB Capital VII's assets, to the public;

to use proceeds from the sale of capital securities to buy our junior subordinated debentures;

to issue the common securities to us in a total liquidation amount equal to at least 3% of USB Capital VII's total capital in exchange for our junior subordinated debentures;

to maintain USB Capital VII's status as a grantor trust for federal income tax purposes; and to engage in other activities that are directly related to the activities described above, such as registering the transfer of the capital securities.

Because USB Capital VII was established only for the purposes listed above, the junior subordinated debentures will be USB Capital VII's sole assets. Payments on the junior subordinated debentures will be USB Capital VII's sole source of income. USB Capital VII will issue only one series of capital securities.

The Offering

Title USB Capital VII 5.875% Trust Preferred Securities.

Securities Offered 12,000,000 capital securities in denominations of $25 each with an aggregate liquidation amount of $300,000,000. Each capital security will represent an undivided beneficial ownership interest in the assets of USB Capital VII. Each capital security will entitle its holder to receive quarterly cash distributions as described below.

USB Capital VII The issuer of the capital securities is USB Capital VII, a Delaware statutory trust. We created it for the sole purpose of issuing the capital securities to the public, using the proceeds of the sale to buy our 5.875% junior subordinated debentures due 2035, issuing common securities to us in exchange for an additional amount of junior subordinated debentures, and engaging in the other transactions described below.

USB Capital VII has five trustees. The three administrative trustees are officers of U.S. Bancorp. Delaware Trust Company, National Association will act as the property trustee and the Delaware trustee of USB Capital VII.

USB Capital VII will hold the junior subordinated debentures that it buys from us and that it receives in exchange for the issuance of common securities to us. We will retain the common securities that we receive from USB Capital VII. We will pay interest on the junior subordinated debentures at the same rate and at the same times as USB Capital VII makes payments on the capital securities. USB Capital VII will use the payments it receives on the junior subordinated debentures to make the corresponding payments on the capital securities. We will guarantee payments made on the capital securities to the extent described below. Both the junior subordinated debentures and the guarantee will be subordinated to the holders of our existing and future senior debt.

Distributions

If you purchase the capital securities, as an undivided beneficial owner in the junior subordinated debentures, you will be entitled to receive cumulative cash distributions at an annual rate of 5.875%. Interest on the junior subordinated debentures will accrue, and as a result distributions on the capital securities will accumulate, from the date of issuance, and will be paid quarterly in arrears on August 15, November 15, February 15 and May 15 of each year, beginning November 15, 2005, unless they are deferred as described below.

Distribution Deferral

We can, on one or more occasions, defer the quarterly interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures for up to 20 consecutive quarterly periods. In other words, we may declare at our discretion up to a five-year interest payment moratorium on the junior subordinated debentures and may choose to do that on more than one occasion. A deferral of interest payments cannot extend, however, beyond the maturity date of the junior subordinated debentures, nor can we begin a new interest deferral period until we have paid all accrued interest on the junior subordinated debentures from the previous interest deferral period.

If we defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures, USB Capital VII will also defer distributions on the capital securities. Any deferred interest on the junior subordinated debentures will accrue additional interest at an annual rate of 5.875%, and, as a result, any deferred distributions will accumulate additional amounts at an annual rate of 5.875%, compounded quarterly, to the extent permitted by applicable law. Once we pay all deferred interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures, with accrued interest, we can again defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures as described above, but not beyond the maturity date of the junior subordinated debentures.

During any period in which we defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures, we will not and our subsidiaries will not do any of the following, with certain limited exceptions:

declare or pay any dividends or distributions, or redeem, purchase, acquire, or make a liquidation payment on any of our capital stock;

make any payment of principal of or interest or premium, if any, on or repay, repurchase or redeem any of our debt securities (including other junior subordinated debentures) that rank equally with or junior in interest to the junior subordinated debentures; or make any guarantee payments on any guarantee of debt securities of any of our subsidiaries (including under other guarantees of junior subordinated debentures) if the guarantee

ranks equally with or junior in interest to the junior subordinated debentures, except in some circumstances.

If we defer payments of interest on the junior subordinated debentures, the junior subordinated debentures will be treated at that time as being issued with original issue discount for United States federal income tax purposes. This means you would be required to accrue interest income in an amount equal to the deferred distributions on your capital securities even though you would not be receiving any cash distributions on your capital securities. These amounts would be included in your gross income for United States federal income tax purposes. For more information, see below under the caption "United States Federal Income Tax Consequences" in this prospectus supplement.

Redemption

USB Capital VII will redeem all of the outstanding capital securities when the junior subordinated debentures are repaid at maturity. The junior subordinated debentures are scheduled to mature on August 15, 2035.

In addition, if we redeem any junior subordinated debentures before their maturity, USB Capital VII will use the cash it receives on the redemption of the junior subordinated debentures to redeem, on a proportionate basis, the capital securities and the common securities. We can redeem the junior subordinated debentures before their maturity at 100% of their principal amount plus accrued and unpaid interest in whole or in part on one or more occasions any time on or after August 15, 2010, or in whole at any time if certain changes occur in tax or investment company laws and regulations or in the treatment of the capital securities for bank regulatory purposes. These circumstances are more fully described below under the caption "Certain Terms of the Capital Securities Redemption" in this prospectus supplement.

We will not redeem the junior subordinated debentures unless we obtain the prior approval of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (the "Federal Reserve") to do so, if then required under the Federal Reserve Board's capital rules.

Liquidation Preference

Upon any dissolution, winding-up or liquidation of USB Capital VII involving the liquidation of the junior subordinated debentures, the holders of the capital securities will be entitled to receive, out of assets held by USB Capital VII, subject to the rights of any creditors of USB Capital VII, the liquidation distribution in cash. USB Capital VII will be able to make this distribution of cash only if we redeem the junior subordinated debentures.

The Guarantee

We will fully and unconditionally guarantee the payment of all amounts due on the capital securities to the extent USB Capital VII has funds available for payment of such distributions.

We also are obligated to pay most of the expenses and obligations of USB Capital VII (other than USB Capital VII's obligations to make payments on the capital securities and common securities, which are covered only by the guarantee).

The guarantee does not cover payments when USB Capital VII does not have sufficient funds to make payments on the capital securities. In other words, if we do not make a payment on the junior subordinated debentures, USB Capital VII will not have sufficient funds to make payments on the capital securities, and the guarantee will not obligate us to make those payments on USB Capital VII's behalf. In addition, our obligations under the guarantee are subordinate to our obligations to other creditors to the same extent as the junior subordinated debentures. For more information, see "Description of the Guarantee" in the accompanying prospectus.

Dissolution of USB Capital VII and Distribution of the Junior Subordinated Debentures

We can dissolve USB Capital VII at any time, subject to obtaining the prior approval of the Federal Reserve Board to do so, if then required under the Federal Reserve Board's capital rules.

If we dissolve USB Capital VII, or if USB Capital VII dissolves because of certain other specified events (such as our bankruptcy), USB Capital VII will distribute the junior subordinated debentures to holders of the capital securities and the common securities on a proportionate basis.

Use of Proceeds

The net proceeds from the offering of the capital securities are estimated to be $290,445,000, or $334,027,500 if the underwriters exercise their over-allotment option in full. We intend to use all of the proceeds from the sale of the capital securities for general corporate purposes. We expect the capital securities to qualify as Tier 1 capital under the capital guidelines of the Federal Reserve Board.

Listing

We will apply to list the capital securities on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading is expected to commence within 30 days after the capital securities are first issued. You should be aware that the listing of the capital securities will not necessarily ensure that an active trading market will be available for the capital securities or that you will be able to sell your capital securities at the price you originally paid for them.

If USB Capital VII distributes the junior subordinated debentures, we will use our best efforts to list them on the New York Stock Exchange or wherever the capital securities are then listed.

Form of the Capital Securities

The capital securities will be represented by one or more global securities that will be deposited with and registered in the name of The Depository Trust Company, New York, New York. This means that you will not receive a certificate for your capital securities and the capital securities will not be registered in your name. For more details, see the information under the caption "Book-Entry Issuance" in the accompanying prospectus.

RISK FACTORS

Before purchasing any capital securities, you should read carefully this prospectus supplement and the accompanying prospectus and pay special attention to the following risk factors.

Because USB Capital VII will rely on the payments it receives on the junior subordinated debentures to fund all payments on the capital securities, and because USB Capital VII may distribute the junior subordinated debentures in exchange for the capital securities, you are making an investment regarding the junior subordinated debentures as well as the capital securities. You should carefully review the information in this prospectus supplement and the accompanying prospectus about the capital securities, the guarantee and the junior subordinated debentures.

Holders of Our Senior Indebtedness Will Get Paid Before You Will Get Paid Under the Guarantee

Our obligations under the junior subordinated debentures and the guarantee will be junior in right of payment to all of our existing and future senior debt. This means that we cannot make any payments on the junior subordinated debentures or the guarantee if we are in default on any of our senior debt. In addition, in the event of our bankruptcy, liquidation or dissolution, our assets must be used to pay off our senior obligations in full before any payments may be made on the junior subordinated debentures or the guarantee.

As of December 31, 2004, we had outstanding senior debt of approximately $24.5 billion. The indenture pursuant to which the junior subordinated debentures will be issued, the guarantee, the certificate of trust which created USB Capital VII and the amended and restated trust agreement, do not limit our ability to incur additional senior debt.

For more information, see below under the captions Certain Terms of the Junior Subordinated Debentures Ranking in this prospectus supplement and Description of the Guarantee Status of Guarantees in the accompanying prospectus.

Our Results of Operations Depend Upon the Results of Operations of Our Subsidiaries

We are a holding company that conducts substantially all of our operations through our banks and other subsidiaries. As a result, our ability to make payments on the junior subordinated debentures and the guarantee will depend primarily upon the receipt of dividends and other distributions from our subsidiaries.

There are various regulatory restrictions on the ability of our banking subsidiaries to pay dividends or make other payments to us. At December 31, 2004, our banking subsidiaries could pay a total of approximately $1.2 billion in dividends to us in a calendar year without prior regulatory approval.

In addition, our right to participate in any distribution of assets of any of our subsidiaries upon the subsidiary's liquidation or otherwise, and thus your ability as a holder of the capital securities to benefit indirectly from such distribution, will be subject to the prior claims of creditors of that subsidiary, except to the extent that any of our claims as a creditor of such subsidiary may be recognized. As a result, the capital securities will effectively be subordinated to all existing and future liabilities and obligations of our subsidiaries. Therefore, holders of the capital securities should look only to our assets for payments on the junior subordinated debentures and indirectly on the capital securities. Further, the junior subordinated debentures and the guarantee also will be effectively subordinated to all existing and future obligations of our subsidiaries.

At December 31, 2004, our subsidiaries had outstanding debt and other liabilities, including deposits, of approximately $175.6 billion.

Table of Contents

If We Do Not Make Payments on the Junior Subordinated Debentures, USB Capital VII Will Not Be Able to Pay Distributions and Other Payments on the Capital Securities and the Guarantee Will Not Apply

USB Capital VII's ability to make timely distribution and redemption payments on the capital securities is completely dependent upon our making timely payments on the junior subordinated debentures. If we default on the junior subordinated debentures, USB Capital VII will lack funds for the payments on the capital securities. If this happens, holders of capital securities will not be able to rely upon the guarantee for payment of such amounts because the guarantee only guarantees that we will make distribution and redemption payments on the capital securities if USB Capital VII has the funds to do so itself but does not. Instead, you or the property trustee may proceed directly against us for payment of any amounts due on the capital securities.

For more information, see below under the caption "Certain Terms of the Capital Securities – Trust Enforcement Events" in this prospectus supplement.

Distributions on the Capital Securities Could Be Deferred; You May Have to Include Interest in Your Taxable Income Before You Receive Cash

As long as the junior subordinated debentures are not in default, we can, on one or more occasions, defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures for up to 20 consecutive quarterly periods, but not beyond the maturity date of the junior subordinated debentures. Because interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures fund the distributions on the capital securities, each such deferral would result in a corresponding deferral of distributions on the capital securities.

We do not intend to defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures. However, if we do so in the future, the capital securities may trade at a price that does not reflect fully the value of the accrued but unpaid distributions. Even if we do not do so, our right to defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures could mean that the market price for the capital securities may be more volatile than that of other securities without interest deferral rights.

If we defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures, you will be required to accrue interest income for United States federal income tax purposes in respect of your proportionate share of the accrued but unpaid interest on the junior subordinated debentures held by USB Capital VII, even if you normally report income when received. As a result, you will be required to include the accrued interest in your gross income for United States federal income tax purposes prior to your receiving any cash distribution. If you sell your capital securities prior to the record date for the first distribution after a deferral period, you would never receive the cash from us related to the accrued interest that you reported for tax purposes. You should consult with your own tax advisor regarding the tax consequences of an investment in the capital securities.

For more information regarding the tax consequences of purchasing the capital securities, see below under the caption "United States Federal Income Tax Consequences – Interest Income and Original Issue Discount" and "Sales of Capital Securities or Redemption of Junior Subordinated Debentures" in this prospectus supplement.

The Capital Securities May Be Redeemed Prior to Maturity; You May Be Taxed on the Proceeds and You May Not Be Able to Reinvest the Proceeds at the Same or a Higher Rate of Return

The junior subordinated debentures (and therefore the capital securities) may be redeemed in whole or in part on one or more occasions any time on or after August 15, 2010 or in whole upon the occurrence of certain special events relating to changes in tax law, the Investment Company Act of 1940 or the treatment of the capital securities for bank regulatory capital purposes, subject to receipt of any necessary Federal Reserve Board approval. The redemption price for the junior subordinated debentures would be equal to 100% of the principal amount plus accrued and unpaid interest. If such a redemption happens, USB Capital VII must use the redemption price it receives to redeem on a proportionate basis capital securities and common securities having an aggregate liquidation amount equal to the aggregate principal amount of the junior subordinated debentures redeemed.

The redemption of the capital securities would be a taxable event to you for United States federal income tax purposes.

In addition, you may not be able to reinvest the money that you receive in the redemption at a rate that is equal to or higher than the rate of return on the capital securities.

Federal Banking Authorities May Restrict the Ability of USB Capital VII to Make Distributions on or Redeem the Capital Securities

Federal banking authorities will have the right to examine USB Capital VII and its activities because USB Capital VII is our subsidiary. Under certain circumstances, including any determination that our relationship to USB Capital VII would result in an unsafe and unsound banking practice, these banking authorities have the authority to issue orders which could restrict the ability of USB Capital VII to make distributions on or to redeem the capital securities.

An Active Trading Market for the Capital Securities May Not Develop

We will apply to list the capital securities on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading is expected to commence within 30 days after the capital securities are first issued. You should be aware that the listing of the capital securities will not necessarily ensure that an active trading market will be available for the capital securities or that you will be able to sell your capital securities at the price you originally paid for them.

We Generally Will Control USB Capital VII Because Your Voting Rights Are Very Limited

You will only have limited voting rights. In particular, you may not elect and remove any trustees, except when there is a default under the junior subordinated debentures. If such a default occurs, a majority in liquidation amount of the holders of the capital securities would be entitled to remove or appoint the property trustee and the Delaware trustee.

For more information, see below under the caption "USB Capital VII" in this prospectus supplement.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This prospectus supplement and the accompanying prospectus contain or incorporate by reference forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"). Statements that are not historical or current facts, including statements about beliefs and expectations, are forward-looking statements. These statements often include the words may, could, would, should, believes, expects, anticipates, estimates, intends, plans, probably, projects, outlook or similar expressions.

These forward-looking statements cover, among other things, anticipated future revenue and expenses and the future prospects of U.S. Bancorp. Forward-looking statements involve inherent risks and uncertainties, and important factors could cause actual results to differ materially from those anticipated, including but not limited to the following, in addition to those contained in U.S. Bancorp's reports on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"):

general economic or industry conditions could be less favorable than expected, resulting in a deterioration in credit quality, a change in the allowance for credit losses, or a reduced demand for credit or fee-based products and services;

changes in the domestic interest rate environment could reduce net interest income and could increase credit losses;

Table of Contents

inflation, changes in securities market conditions and monetary fluctuations could adversely affect the value or credit quality of our assets, or the availability and terms of funding necessary to meet our liquidity needs;

changes in the extensive laws, regulations and policies governing financial services companies could alter our business environment or affect operations;

the potential need to adapt to industry changes in information technology systems, on which we are highly dependent, could present operational issues or require significant capital spending; competitive pressures could intensify and affect our profitability, including as a result of continued industry consolidation, the increased availability of financial services from non-banks, technological developments or bank regulatory reform;

changes in consumer spending and savings habits could adversely affect our results of operations; changes in the financial performance and condition of our borrowers could negatively affect repayment of such borrowers' loans; acquisitions may not produce revenue enhancements or cost savings at levels or within time frames originally anticipated, or may result in unforeseen integration difficulties;

capital investments in our businesses may not produce expected growth in earnings anticipated at the time of the expenditure; and acts or threats of terrorism, and/or political and military actions taken by the U.S. or other governments in response to acts or threats of terrorism or otherwise could adversely affect general economic or industry conditions.

Forward-looking statements speak only as of the date they are made, and we undertake no obligation to update them in light of new information or future events.

U.S. BANCORP

We are a multi-state financial holding company with $204 billion in assets at June 30, 2005, headquartered in Minneapolis, Minnesota. We were incorporated in Delaware in 1929 and operate as a financial holding company and a bank holding company under the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956. We provide a full range of financial services, including lending and depository services, cash management, foreign exchange and trust and investment management services. We also engage in credit card services, merchant and automated teller machine processing, mortgage banking, insurance, brokerage, leasing and investment banking. We are the parent company of U.S. Bank.

Our banking subsidiaries are engaged in the general banking business, principally in domestic markets. Our subsidiaries range in size from $25 million to $128 billion in deposits at December 31, 2004, and provide a wide range of products and services to individuals, businesses, institutional organizations, governmental entities and other financial institutions. Commercial and consumer lending services are principally offered to customers within our domestic markets, to domestic customers with foreign operations and within certain niche national venues. Lending services include traditional credit products as well as credit card services, financing and import/export trade, asset-backed lending, agricultural finance and other products. Leasing products are offered through bank leasing subsidiaries. Depository services include checking accounts, savings accounts and time certificate contracts. Ancillary services such as foreign exchange, treasury management and receivable lock-box collection are provided to corporate customers. Our bank and trust subsidiaries provide a full range of asset management and fiduciary services for individuals, estates, foundations, businesses and charitable organizations.

Our nonbanking subsidiaries primarily offer investment and insurance products to our customers principally within their markets and mutual fund processing services to a broad range of mutual funds.

Table of Contents

Banking and investment services are provided through a network of 2,383 banking offices principally operating in 24 states in the Midwest and West. U.S. Bancorp operates a network of 4,877 branded ATMs and provides 24-hour, seven day a week telephone customer service. Mortgage banking services are provided through banking offices and loan production offices throughout our markets. Consumer lending products may be originated through banking offices, indirect correspondents, brokers or other lending sources, and a consumer finance division. We are also one of the largest providers of Visa® corporate and purchasing card services and corporate trust services in the United States. A wholly-owned subsidiary, NOVA Information Systems, Inc., provides merchant processing services directly to merchants through a network of banking affiliations. Affiliates of NOVA Information Systems, Inc. provide similar merchant services in Canada and segments of Europe. These foreign operations are not significant to us.

USB CAPITAL VII

Purpose and Ownership of USB Capital VII

USB Capital VII is a statutory trust organized under Delaware law by the trustees and us. USB Capital VII was established solely for the following purposes:

to issue the capital securities, which represent undivided beneficial ownership interests in USB Capital VII's assets, to the public;

to use proceeds from the sale of capital securities to buy our junior subordinated debentures;

to issue the common securities to us in a total liquidation amount equal to at least 3% of USB Capital VII's total capital in exchange for our junior subordinated debentures;

to maintain USB Capital VII's status as a grantor trust for federal income tax purposes; and

to engage in other activities that are directly related to the activities described above, such as registering the transfer of the capital securities.

Because USB Capital VII was established only for the purposes listed above, the junior subordinated debentures will be USB Capital VII's sole assets. Payments on the junior subordinated debentures will be USB Capital VII's sole source of income. USB Capital VII will issue only one series of capital securities.

As issuer of the junior subordinated debentures, we will pay:

all fees, expenses and taxes related to USB Capital VII and the offering of the capital securities and common securities; and all ongoing costs, expenses and liabilities of USB Capital VII, except obligations to make distributions and other payments on the common securities and the capital securities.

For so long as the capital securities remain outstanding, we will:

own, directly or indirectly, all of the common securities;

cause USB Capital VII to remain a statutory trust and not to voluntarily dissolve, wind-up, liquidate or be terminated, except as permitted by the certificate of trust by which USB Capital VII was created;

use our commercially reasonable efforts to ensure that USB Capital VII will not be an investment company for purposes of the Investment Company Act of 1940; and take no action that would be reasonably likely to cause USB Capital VII to be classified as other than a grantor trust for United States federal income tax purposes.

The Trustees

The business and affairs of USB Capital VII will be conducted by its five trustees. The three administrative trustees will be individuals who are our employees. The fourth trustee, Delaware Trust Company, National Association, as property trustee, will hold title to the junior subordinated debentures for the benefit of the holders of the capital securities and will have the power to exercise all the rights and powers of a registered holder of the junior subordinated debentures. The fifth trustee, Delaware Trust Company, National Association, as Delaware trustee, maintains its principal place of business in Delaware and meets the requirements of Delaware law for Delaware statutory trusts. In addition, Delaware Trust Company, National Association, as guarantee trustee, will hold the guarantee for the benefit of the holders of the capital securities.

We have the sole right to appoint, remove and replace the trustees of USB Capital VII, unless an event of default occurs with respect to the junior subordinated debentures. In that case, the holders of a majority in liquidation amount of the capital securities will have the right to remove and appoint the property trustee and the Delaware trustee.

Additional Information

For additional information concerning USB Capital VII, see About the Trusts in the accompanying prospectus. USB Capital VII will not be required to file any reports with the SEC after the issuance of the capital securities. As discussed below under the caption Accounting Treatment in this prospectus supplement, we will provide certain information concerning USB Capital VII and the capital securities in the financial statements included in our own periodic reports to the SEC.

Office of USB Capital VII

The executive office of USB Capital VII is c/o U.S. Bancorp, 800 Nicollet Mall, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55402, and its telephone number is (651) 466-3000.

USE OF PROCEEDS

The net proceeds from the offering of the capital securities by USB Capital VII are estimated to be $290,445,000 or $334,027,500 if the underwriters exercise their over-allotment option in full. USB Capital VII will use the proceeds of the sale of the capital securities to buy our junior subordinated debentures. We intend to use all of the proceeds from the sale of the junior subordinated debentures for general corporate purposes.

ACCOUNTING TREATMENT

Historically, issuer trusts that issued trust preferred securities have been consolidated by their parent companies and the accounts of such issuer trusts have been included in the consolidated financial statements of such parent companies. However, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Interpretation No. 46, Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities, or FIN 46, as revised in December 2003, provides guidance for determining when an entity should consolidate another entity that meets the definition of a variable interest entity. FIN 46 requires a variable interest entity to be consolidated if the company will absorb a majority of the expected losses, will receive a majority of the expected residual returns, or both. For financial reporting purposes, we treat our existing trusts formed for the purpose of issuing trust preferred securities, and will treat USB Capital VII, as unconsolidated subsidiaries and report the aggregate principal amount of the junior subordinated debt securities we issue to the various trusts as liabilities, record the assets related to the cash and common securities received from the trusts in our consolidated balance sheet, and report interest payable on the junior subordinated debt securities as an interest expense in our consolidated statements of operations.

REGULATORY TREATMENT

We are required by the Federal Reserve to maintain certain levels of capital for bank regulatory purposes. We expect that the capital securities will be treated as Tier 1 capital of U.S. Bancorp. Since 1996, it has been the position of the Federal Reserve that certain qualifying amounts of cumulative preferred stock instruments having the characteristics of the trust preferred securities could be included as Tier 1 capital for bank holding companies; however, capital received from the sale of such cumulative preferred stock instruments, including the trust preferred securities, cannot constitute, as a whole, more than 25% of total Tier 1 capital. On March 1, 2005, the Federal Reserve Board adopted a final rule which amended its risk-based capital standards. The amended standards provide that qualifying trust preferred securities shall continue to be included in Tier 1 capital, subject to stricter quantitative limits within Tier 1 capital that do not become effective until March 31, 2009. Those stricter quantitative limits will require the deduction of goodwill in computing Tier I capital limits for restricted core capital elements that include trust preferred securities and will thereby reduce the amount of trust preferred securities that we will be able to include in Tier 1 capital in the future.

CAPITALIZATION

The following table shows our capitalization at June 30, 2005 on an actual basis and as adjusted to give effect to the issuance of junior subordinated debentures in the aggregate principal amount of $309,278,000 in exchange for payment from USB Capital VII (using the proceeds of the sale of capital securities) and the common securities.

	June 30, 2005
	Actual	As Adjusted
	(Dollars in thousands)
Total long-term debt	$ 34,788,000	$ 35,097,278
Total stockholders' equity	19,901,000	19,901,000
Total capitalization	$ 54,689,000	$ 54,998,278

RATIO OF EARNINGS TO FIXED CHARGES

Our ratio of earnings to fixed charges for each of the periods indicated is as follows:

	Three Months Ended March 31,	Year Ended December 31,
	2005	2004	2003	2002	2001	2000
Ratio of Earnings to Fixed Charges:
Excluding interest on deposits	5.06	5.98	6.40	4.88	2.26	2.76
Including interest on deposits	3.29	3.88	3.64	2.79	1.50	1.69

For the purpose of computing the ratios of earnings to fixed charges, earnings consist of consolidated income from continuing operations before provision for income taxes, minority interest and fixed charges, and fixed charges consist of interest expense, amortization of debt issuance costs and the portion of rental expense deemed to represent interest.

Table of ContentsCERTAIN TERMS OF THE CAPITAL SECURITIES

We have summarized below certain terms of the capital securities. This summary supplements the general description of the capital securities under the caption Description of Capital Securities and elsewhere in the accompanying prospectus. To the extent that this summary is inconsistent with the description in the accompanying prospectus, you should rely on the summary below. This summary is not a complete description of all of the terms and provisions of the capital securities. For more information, we refer you to the certificate of trust, the form of the amended and restated trust agreement and the form of capital security certificate (which will be substantially similar to the form of the capital securities), which we filed as exhibits to the registration statement of which the accompanying prospectus is a part.

The capital securities represent undivided beneficial ownership interests in the assets of USB Capital VII. The only assets of USB Capital VII will be the junior subordinated debentures. The capital securities will rank equally with the common securities except as described below under the caption Subordination of Common Securities in this section.

Distributions

As an undivided beneficial owner in the junior subordinated debentures, you will receive distributions on the capital securities that are cumulative and will accumulate from the date of issuance at the annual rate of 5.875% of the liquidation amount of $25 for each capital security. Interest on the junior subordinated debentures will accrue and, as a result, distributions on the capital securities will accumulate and will be payable quarterly in arrears on August 15, November 15, February 15 and May 15 of each year, beginning November 15, 2005. The amount of distributions payable for any period will be computed on the basis of a 360-day year comprised of twelve 30-day months. The amount of distributions payable for any period shorter than a full quarterly period will be computed on the basis of a 30-day month and, for periods of less than a month, the actual number of days elapsed per 30-day month.

Interest not paid when due will accrue additional interest at the annual rate of 5.875% on the amount of unpaid interest, compounded quarterly, to the extent permitted by applicable law. As a result, distributions not paid when due will accumulate additional distributions at the annual rate of 5.875% on the amount of unpaid distributions, compounded quarterly, to the extent permitted by applicable law. When we refer to any payment of distributions, the term distributions includes any such additional accumulated distributions.

If distributions are payable on a date that is not a business day, payment will be made on the next business day and without any interest or other payment as a result of such delay. A business day means each day except Saturday, Sunday and any day on which banking institutions in The City of New York are authorized or required by law to close or on which the corporate trust office of the property trustee or the indenture trustee is closed for business.

USB Capital VII's income available for the payment of distributions will be limited to our payments made on the junior subordinated debentures. As a result, if we do not make interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures, then USB Capital VII will not have funds to make distributions on the capital securities.

Deferral of Distributions

If the junior subordinated debentures are not in default, we can, on one or more occasions, defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures for up to 20 consecutive quarterly interest payment periods. A deferral of interest payments cannot extend, however, beyond the maturity date of the junior subordinated debentures. If we defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures, USB Capital VII also will defer distributions on the capital securities. During a deferral period, interest on the junior subordinated debentures will accrue and compound quarterly at the annual rate of 5.875%, to the extent permitted by applicable law, and as a result distributions otherwise due to you would continue to accumulate from the date that these distributions were due.

Table of Contents

Once we make all deferred interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures, we again can defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures in the same manner as discussed above. As a result, there could be multiple periods of varying length during which you would not receive cash distributions from USB Capital VII.

We currently do not intend to defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures. If we defer such interest payments, however, neither we nor our subsidiaries generally will be permitted to pay dividends on or repurchase shares of our capital stock or make payments on debt securities or guarantees that rank equal or junior to the junior subordinated debentures and the guarantee. These limitations are described in greater detail below under the caption Certain Terms of the Junior Subordinated Debentures – Option to Defer Interest Payments in this prospectus supplement.

If we choose to defer payments of interest on the junior subordinated debentures, then the junior subordinated debentures would at that time be treated as being issued with original issue discount for United States federal income tax purposes. This means you will be required to include your share of the accrued but unpaid interest on the junior subordinated debentures in your gross income for United States federal income tax purposes before you receive cash distributions from USB Capital VII. This treatment will apply as long as you own capital securities. For more information, see below under the caption United States Federal Income Tax Consequences – Interest Income and Original Issue Discount in this prospectus supplement.

Payment of Distributions

Distributions on the capital securities will be payable to holders on the relevant record date. If the capital securities are issued in the form of global securities, as is expected, the record date for determining who will receive distributions on the capital securities will be the business day preceding the payment date for such distributions; otherwise the record date will be the fifteenth day preceding the payment date for such distributions. For more information on global securities, see Global Securities; Book-Entry Issue below, and under the caption Book-Entry Issuance in the accompanying prospectus. Distributions payable on any capital securities that are not paid on the scheduled distribution date will cease to be payable to the person in whose name such capital securities are registered on the relevant record date, and such distribution will instead be payable to the person in whose name such capital securities are registered on a special record date set for this purpose.

Payments on the capital securities while they are in book-entry form will be made in immediately available funds to DTC, the depository for the capital securities.

Redemption

We may redeem the junior subordinated debentures before their maturity at 100% of their principal amount plus accrued and unpaid interest:

in whole or in part, on one or more occasions at any time on or after August 15, 2010 or in whole at any time if certain changes occur in tax or investment company laws and regulations, or in the treatment of the capital securities for bank regulatory capital purposes. These events, which we refer to as Special Events, are described in detail below under the caption Redemption Upon a Special Event.

We may not redeem the junior subordinated debentures unless we receive the prior approval of the Federal Reserve Board to do so, if that approval is then required under the Federal Reserve Board's capital rules.

General

When we repay the junior subordinated debentures, either at maturity on August 15, 2035 or upon early redemption (as discussed above), USB Capital VII will use the cash it receives from the repayment or redemption of the junior subordinated debentures to redeem a corresponding amount of the capital securities and common securities. The redemption price for the capital securities will be equal to the liquidation amount, $25 per capital security, plus accumulated but unpaid distributions on the capital securities to the redemption date.

If less than all the capital securities and the common securities are redeemed, the total amount of the capital securities and the common securities to be redeemed will be allocated proportionately among the capital securities and common securities, unless an event of default under the junior subordinated debentures or similar event has occurred, as described below under the caption Subordination of Common Securities in this section.

If we do not elect to redeem the junior subordinated debentures, then the capital securities will remain outstanding until the repayment of the junior subordinated debentures unless we liquidate USB Capital VII and distribute the junior subordinated debentures to you. For more information, see Optional Liquidation of USB Capital VII and Distribution of Junior Subordinated Debentures in this section.

Redemption Upon a Special Event

If a Special Event has occurred and is continuing, and we cannot cure that event by some reasonable action, then we may redeem the junior subordinated debentures within 90 days following the occurrence of the Special Event. A Special Event means, for these purposes, the occurrence of a Tax Event, a Regulatory Capital Event or an Investment Company Event. We summarize each of these events below.

A Tax Event means that either we or USB Capital VII will have received an opinion of counsel (which may be our counsel or counsel of an affiliate but not an employee and which must be reasonably acceptable to the property trustee) experienced in tax matters stating that, as a result of any:

amendment to, or change (including any announced prospective change) in, the laws (or any regulations under those laws) of the United States or any political subdivision or taxing authority affecting taxation; or interpretation or application of the laws, enumerated in the preceding bullet point, or regulations by any court, governmental agency or regulatory authority, there is more than an insubstantial risk that:

USB Capital VII is, or will be within 90 days of the date of the opinion of counsel, subject to U.S. federal income tax on interest received on the junior subordinated debentures;

interest payable by us to USB Capital VII on the junior subordinated debentures is not, or will not be within 90 days of the date of the opinion of counsel, deductible, in whole or in part, for U.S. federal income tax purposes; or USB Capital VII is, or will be within 90 days of the date of the opinion of counsel, subject to more than a minimal amount of other taxes, duties, assessments or other governmental charges.

A Regulatory Capital Event means the reasonable determination by us that, as a result of any:

amendment to, or change (including any prospective change) in, the laws or any applicable regulation of the United States or any political subdivision; or as a result of any official or administrative pronouncement or action or judicial decision interpreting or applying the laws or regulations, which amendment is effective or announced on or after the date of issuance the capital securities, there is more than an insubstantial risk of impairment of our ability to treat the capital securities (or any substantial portion) as Tier 1 capital (or its equivalent) for purposes of the capital adequacy guidelines of the Federal Reserve in effect and applicable to us.

Table of Contents

An Investment Company Event means the receipt by us and USB Capital VII of an opinion of counsel experienced in matters relating to investment companies to the effect that, as a result of any:

change in law or regulation; or change in interpretation or application of law or regulation by any legislative body, court, governmental agency or regulatory authority,

USB Capital VII is or will be considered an investment company that is required to be registered under the Investment Company Act, which change becomes effective on or after the original issuance of the capital securities.

Redemption Procedures

USB Capital VII will give you at least 30 days but not more than 60 days notice before any redemption of capital securities. To the extent funds are available for payment, USB Capital VII will irrevocably deposit with DTC sufficient funds to pay the redemption amount for the capital securities being redeemed. USB Capital VII also will give DTC irrevocable instructions and authority to pay the redemption amount to its participants. Any distribution to be paid on or before a redemption date for any capital securities called for redemption will be payable to the registered holders on the record date for the distribution.

Once notice of redemption is given and USB Capital VII irrevocably deposits the redemption amount, additional distributions on the capital securities will cease to accumulate from and after the redemption date. In addition, all rights of the holders of the capital securities called for redemption will cease, except for the right to receive distributions payable prior to the redemption date and the redemption amount.

If any redemption date is not a business day, the redemption amount will be payable on the next business day, without any interest or other payment in respect of any such delay.

If payment of the redemption amount for any capital securities called for redemption is not paid because the payment of the redemption price on the junior subordinated debentures is not made, interest on the junior subordinated debentures will continue to accrue from the originally scheduled redemption date to the actual date of payment, and, as a result, distributions on the capital securities will continue to accumulate.

In addition, we may and our affiliates may, at any time, purchase outstanding capital securities by tender, in the open market or by private agreement.

Optional Liquidation of USB Capital VII and Distribution of Junior Subordinated Debentures

We may dissolve USB Capital VII at any time, and after satisfying the creditors of USB Capital VII, may cause the junior subordinated debentures to be distributed to the holders of the capital securities. We may not dissolve USB Capital VII, however, unless we first receive:

the approval of the Federal Reserve System to do so, if that approval is then required under the Federal Reserve System's capital rules; and an opinion of independent counsel that the distribution of the junior subordinated debentures will not be taxable to the holders for United States federal income tax purposes.

See below under the caption Certain Terms of the Junior Subordinated Debentures Distribution of Junior Subordinated Debentures in this prospectus supplement.

If we elect to dissolve USB Capital VII, thus causing the junior subordinated debentures to be distributed to the holders of the capital securities, we will continue to have the right to redeem the junior subordinated debentures in certain circumstances as described above.

Table of Contents

Subordination of Common Securities

Payment of distributions or any redemption or liquidation amounts by USB Capital VII regarding the capital securities and the common securities will be made proportionately based on the total liquidation amounts of the securities. However, if we are in default under the junior subordinated debentures, USB Capital VII will make no payments on the common securities until all unpaid amounts on the capital securities have been provided for or paid in full.

Trust Enforcement Events

An event of default under the indenture constitutes an event of default under the amended and restated trust agreement. We refer to such an event as a Trust Enforcement Event. For more information on events of default under the indenture, see Description of Junior Subordinated Debt Securities Events of Default in the accompanying prospectus. Upon the occurrence and continuance of a Trust Enforcement Event, the property trustee, as the sole holder of the junior subordinated debentures, will have the right under the indenture to declare the principal amount of the junior subordinated debentures due and payable. The amended and restated trust agreement does not provide for any other events of default.

If the property trustee fails to enforce its rights under the junior subordinated debentures, any holder of capital securities may, to the extent permitted by applicable law, institute a legal proceeding against us to enforce the property trustee's rights under the junior subordinated debentures and the indenture without first instituting legal proceedings against the property trustee or any other person. In addition, if a Trust Enforcement Event is due to our failure to pay interest or principal on the junior subordinated debentures when due, then the registered holder of capital securities may institute a direct action on or after the due date directly against us for enforcement of payment to that holder of the principal of or interest on the junior subordinated debentures having a principal amount equal to the total liquidation amount of that holder's capital securities. In connection with such a direct action, we will have the right under the indenture to set off any payment made to that holder by us. The holders of capital securities will not be able to exercise directly any other remedy available to the holders of the junior subordinated debentures.

Pursuant to the amended and restated trust agreement, the holder of the common securities will be deemed to have waived any Trust Enforcement Event regarding the common securities until all Trust Enforcement Events regarding the capital securities have been cured, waived or otherwise eliminated. Until all Trust Enforcement Events regarding the capital securities have been so cured, waived or otherwise eliminated, the property trustee will act solely on behalf of the holders of the capital securities and only the holders of the capital securities will have the right to direct the enforcement actions of the property trustee.

Voting Rights

Holders of capital securities will have only limited voting rights. In particular, holders of capital securities may not elect or remove any trustee, except when there is a default under the junior subordinated debentures. If such a default occurs, a majority in liquidation amount of the holders of the capital securities would be entitled to remove or appoint the property trustee and the Delaware trustee.

Remedies

So long as any junior subordinated debentures are held by the property trustee, the holders of a majority of all outstanding capital securities will have the right to direct the time, method and place of conducting any proceeding for any remedy available to the property trustee, or to direct the exercise of any power conferred upon the property trustee under the amended and restated trust agreement, including the right to direct the property trustee, as holder of the junior subordinated debentures to:

exercise the remedies available to it under the indenture as a holder of the junior subordinated debentures, including the right to rescind or annul a declaration that the principal of all the junior subordinated indentures will be due and payable;

consent to any amendment, modification or termination of the indenture or the junior subordinated debentures; or waive any past default that is waivable under the indenture.

However, where a consent or action under the indenture would require the consent or action of the holders of more than a majority of the total principal amount of junior subordinated debentures affected by it, only the holders of that greater percentage of the capital securities may direct the property trustee to give the consent or to take such action. See Description of Capital Securities Voting Rights; Amendment of Each Trust Agreement in the accompanying prospectus.

If an event of default under the indenture has occurred and is continuing, the holders of 25% of the total liquidation amount of the capital securities may direct the property trustee to declare the principal and interest on the junior subordinated debentures due and payable.

Meetings

Any required approval of holders of capital securities may be given at a meeting of holders of capital securities convened for such purpose or pursuant to written consent. The property trustee will cause a notice of any meeting at which holders of capital securities are entitled to vote to be given to each holder of record of capital securities in the manner described in the amended and restated trust agreement.

No vote or consent of the holders of capital securities will be required for USB Capital VII to redeem and cancel its capital securities in accordance with the amended and restated trust agreement.

Global Securities; Book-Entry Issue

We expect that the capital securities will be issued in the form of global securities held by The Depository Trust Company as described under the caption Book-Entry Issuance in the accompanying prospectus.

Information Concerning the Property Trustee

The property trustee, other than during the occurrence and continuance of a Trust Enforcement Event, undertakes to perform only the duties that are specifically described in the amended and restated trust agreement and, after a Trust Enforcement Event which has not been cured or waived, must exercise the same degree of care and skill as a prudent person would exercise or use in the conduct of his own affairs. Subject to this provision, the property trustee is under no obligation to exercise any of the powers vested in it by the amended and restated trust agreement at the request of any holder of capital securities unless it is offered reasonable security and indemnity against the costs, expenses and liabilities that might be incurred in connection with taking that action.

CERTAIN TERMS OF THE JUNIOR SUBORDINATED DEBENTURES

We have summarized below certain terms of the junior subordinated debentures. This summary supplements the general description of these securities under the caption Description of Junior Subordinated Debt Securities and elsewhere in the accompanying prospectus. To the extent that this summary is inconsistent with the description in the accompanying prospectus, you should rely on the summary below. This summary is not a complete description of all of the terms and provisions of the junior subordinated debentures. For more information, we refer you to the indenture and the form of the junior subordinated debentures, which we file with the SEC.

The junior subordinated debentures will be issued pursuant to an indenture between us and Delaware Trust Company, National Association as indenture trustee. The indenture provides for the issuance from time to time of junior subordinated debentures in an unlimited dollar amount and an unlimited number of series.

Interest Rate and Maturity

The junior subordinated debentures will bear interest at the annual rate of 5.875%, payable quarterly in arrears on August 15, November 15, February 15 and May 15 of each year, beginning November 15, 2005. Interest payments not paid when due will themselves accrue additional interest at the annual rate of 5.875% on the amount of unpaid interest, to the extent permitted by law, compounded quarterly. The amount of interest payable for any period will be computed based on a 360-day year comprised of twelve 30-day months. The amount of interest payable for any period shorter than a full quarterly period will be computed on the basis of a 30-day month and, for periods of less than a month, the actual number of days elapsed per 30-day month. The distribution provisions of the capital securities correspond to the interest payment provisions for the junior subordinated debentures because the capital securities represent undivided beneficial ownership interests in the junior subordinated debentures.

The junior subordinated debentures do not have a sinking fund. This means that we are not required to make any principal payments prior to maturity.

The junior subordinated debentures will mature on August 15, 2035.

Ranking

The junior subordinated debentures will be unsecured and will rank junior and be subordinate in right of payment to all our senior debt.

As a holding company, our assets primarily consist of the equity securities of our subsidiaries. As a result, the ability of holders of the junior subordinated debentures to benefit from any distribution of assets of any subsidiary upon the liquidation or reorganization of such subsidiary is subordinate to the prior claims of present and future creditors of that subsidiary.

The capital securities, the junior subordinated debentures and the guarantee do not limit our or our subsidiaries ability to incur additional debt, including debt that ranks senior in priority of payment to the junior subordinated debentures and the guarantee. At December 31, 2004, approximately $24.5 billion of our senior debt was outstanding. In addition, the junior subordinated debentures will be effectively subordinated to all our subsidiaries existing and future obligations. At December 31, 2004, our subsidiaries had outstanding debt and other liabilities, including deposits, of approximately $175.6 billion.

Redemption

We may, under certain circumstances, redeem some or all of the junior subordinated debentures before their maturity. For more information, see above under the caption Certain Terms of the Capital Securities Redemption in this prospectus supplement.

Table of Contents

Distribution of Junior Subordinated Debentures

If the property trustee distributes the junior subordinated debentures to the holders of the capital securities and the common securities upon the liquidation of USB Capital VII, we will cause the junior subordinated debentures to be issued in denominations of $25 principal amount and integral multiples thereof. We anticipate that the junior subordinated debentures would be distributed in the form of one or more global securities and that DTC would act as depository for the junior subordinated debentures. The depository arrangements for the junior subordinated debentures would be substantially the same as those in effect for the capital securities.

For a description of DTC and the terms of the depository arrangements relating to payments, transfers, voting rights, redemption and other notices and other matters, see Book-Entry Issuance in the accompanying prospectus.

Option to Defer Interest Payments

We can defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures for up to 20 consecutive quarterly interest payment periods if the junior subordinated debentures are not in default. A deferral of interest payments cannot extend, however, beyond the maturity date of the junior subordinated debentures. During the deferral period, interest will continue to accrue on the junior subordinated debentures, compounded quarterly, and deferred interest payments will accrue additional interest at 5.875% to the extent permitted by applicable law. No interest will be due and payable on the junior subordinated debentures until the end of the deferral period except upon a redemption of the junior subordinated debentures during a deferral period.

We may pay at any time all or any portion of the interest accrued to that point during a deferral period. At the end of the deferral period or on any redemption date, we will be obligated to pay all accrued and unpaid interest.

Once we pay all accrued and unpaid interest on the junior subordinated debentures, we again can defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures as described above, provided that a deferral period cannot extend beyond the maturity date of the junior subordinated debentures.

Certain Limitations During a Deferral Period

During any deferral period, we will not and our subsidiaries will not be permitted to:

declare or pay any dividends or distributions, or redeem, purchase, acquire, or make a liquidation payment on any of our capital stock;

make any payment of principal of or interest or premium, if any, on or repay, repurchase or redeem any of our debt securities (including other junior subordinated debentures) that rank equally with or junior in interest to the junior subordinated debentures; or make any guarantee payments on any guarantee of debt securities of any of our subsidiaries (including under other guarantees of junior subordinated debentures) if the guarantee ranks equally with or junior in interest to the junior subordinated debentures.

However, at any time, including during a deferral period, we will be permitted to:

pay dividends or distributions in additional shares of our capital stock;

make payments under the guarantee of the series of the capital securities and the common securities; declare or pay a dividend in connection with the implementation of a shareholders' rights plan, or issue stock under such a plan or repurchase such rights; and purchase common stock for issuance pursuant to any employee benefit plans.

Notice

We will give USB Capital VII, the administrative trustees and the property trustee notice if we decide to defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures. We will give that notice five business days before the earlier of:

the next date distributions on the capital securities are payable; or the date USB Capital VII is required to give notice to the New York Stock Exchange (or any applicable self-regulatory organization) or to holders of the capital securities on the record date or the date any distribution is payable, but in any event at least five business days before the record date.

In no event, however, we will be required to give notice more than 15 business days before the next date distributions on the capital securities are payable.

The administrative trustees will give notice to the holders of capital securities if we decide to defer interest payments on the junior subordinated debentures.

Agreement by Purchasers of Certain Tax Treatment

Each junior subordinated debenture will provide that, by acceptance of the junior subordinated debentures, or a beneficial interest therein, the holder of the junior subordinated debenture intends that such junior subordinated debenture constitutes debt and agrees to treat it as debt for United States federal, state and local tax purposes.

Miscellaneous

Under the indenture, we will pay all of any costs, expenses or liabilities of USB Capital VII, other than obligations of USB Capital VII under the terms of the capital securities or other similar interests or with respect to the common securities.

RELATIONSHIP AMONG THE CAPITAL SECURITIES, THE JUNIOR SUBORDINATED DEBENTURES AND THE GUARANTEE

Full and Unconditional Guarantee

Payments of distributions and other amounts due on the capital securities are irrevocably guaranteed by us, to the extent USB Capital VII has funds available for the payment of such distributions, as described under Description of the Guarantee in the accompanying prospectus.

If we do not make payments under the junior subordinated debentures, USB Capital VII will not have sufficient funds to pay distributions or other amounts due on the capital securities. The guarantee does not cover payment of distributions when USB Capital VII does not have sufficient funds to pay such distributions. In that event, a holder of capital securities may institute a legal proceeding directly against us to enforce payment of the junior subordinated debentures to such holder in accordance with their terms, including our right to defer interest payments.

Taken together, our obligations under the amended and restated trust agreement, the junior subordinated debentures, the indenture and the guarantee provide a full and unconditional guarantee of payments of distributions and other amounts due on the capital securities.

Table of Contents

Sufficiency of Payments

As long as payments of interest, principal and other payments are made when due on the junior subordinated debentures, those payments will be sufficient to cover distributions and other payments due on the capital securities because of the following factors:

the total principal amount of the junior subordinated debentures will be equal to the sum of the total stated liquidation amount of the capital securities and the common securities; the interest rate and payment dates on the junior subordinated debentures will match the distribution rate and payment dates for the capital securities;

as borrower, we will pay, and USB Capital VII will not be obligated to pay, all costs, expenses and liabilities of USB Capital VII except USB Capital VII's obligations under the capital securities and common securities; and the amended and restated trust agreement further provides that USB Capital VII will engage only in activity that is consistent with the limited purposes of USB Capital VII.

We have the right to set-off any payment we are otherwise required to make under the indenture with and to the extent we make a related payment under the guarantee.

Enforcement Rights of Holders of Capital Securities

If a Trust Enforcement Event occurs, the holders of capital securities would rely on the enforcement by the property trustee of its rights as registered holder of the junior subordinated debentures against us. In addition, the holders of a majority in liquidation amount of the capital securities will have the right to direct the time, method and place of conducting any proceeding for any remedy available to the property trustee or to direct the exercise of any trust or power conferred upon the property trustee under the amended and restated trust agreement, including the right to direct the property trustee to exercise the remedies available to it as the holder of the junior subordinated debentures.

If the property trustee fails to enforce its rights under the junior subordinated debentures in respect of an event of default under the indenture after a holder of capital securities has made a written request, such holder may, to the extent permitted by applicable law, institute a legal proceeding against us to enforce the property trustee's rights under the junior subordinated debentures. In addition, if we fail to pay interest or principal on the junior subordinated debentures, a holder of capital securities may institute a proceeding directly against us for enforcement of payment to that holder of the principal of or interest on junior subordinated debentures having a principal amount equal to the total liquidation amount of that holder's capital securities (which we refer to as a direct action). In connection with such a direct action, we will have the right to set off any payment made to such holder by us. The holders of capital securities will not be able to exercise directly any other remedy available to the holders of the junior subordinated debentures.

Limited Purpose of Trust

The capital securities evidence undivided beneficial ownership interests in the assets of USB Capital VII, and USB Capital VII exists for the sole purpose of issuing the common securities and capital securities as described in this prospectus supplement. A principal difference between the rights of a holder of capital securities and a holder of junior subordinated debentures is that a holder of junior subordinated debentures is entitled to receive from us the principal of and interest accrued on junior subordinated debentures held, while a holder of capital securities is entitled to receive distributions to the extent USB Capital VII has funds available for the payment of such distributions.

Rights Upon Termination

Upon any dissolution, winding-up or liquidation of USB Capital VII involving the liquidation of the junior subordinated debentures, the holders of the capital securities will be entitled to receive, out of assets held by USB Capital VII, subject to the rights of any creditors of USB Capital VII, the liquidation distribution in cash. Upon our voluntary or involuntary liquidation or bankruptcy, the property trustee, as holder of the junior subordinated debentures, would be our subordinated creditor, subordinated in right of payment to all senior debt as described in the indenture, but entitled to receive payment in full of principal and interest before any of our stockholders receive payments or distributions. Because we are the guarantor under the guarantee and, under the indenture, as borrower, we have agreed to pay for all costs, expenses and liabilities of USB Capital VII (other than USB Capital VII's obligations to the holders of the capital securities or the common securities), the positions of a holder of capital securities and a holder of the junior subordinated debentures relative to other creditors and to our stockholders in the event of our liquidation or bankruptcy would be substantially the same.

UNITED STATES FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES

The following summary describes the material United States federal income tax consequences of the purchase, ownership and disposition of the capital securities as of the date of this prospectus supplement. Where noted, it constitutes the opinion of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey L.L.P., counsel to U.S. Bancorp and USB Capital VII.

Except where we state otherwise, this summary deals only with capital securities held as capital assets by a holder who:

is a United States person (as defined below); and purchases the capital securities upon original issuance at their original issue price.

A United States person is a holder who is one of the following:

a citizen or resident of the United States;

a corporation, partnership or other entity created or organized in or under the laws of the United States or any political subdivision of the United States;

an estate the income of which is subject to United States federal income taxation regardless of its source; or a trust that is subject to the primary supervision of a court within the United States and the control of one or more United States persons, or that has a valid election in effect under applicable United States Treasury regulations to be treated as a United States person.

Your tax treatment may vary depending on your particular situation. This summary does not address all the tax consequences that may be relevant to holders that are subject to special tax treatment, such as:

dealers in securities or currencies;

financial institutions;

tax-exempt investors;

traders in securities that elect to use a mark-to-market method of accounting for their securities holdings;

persons liable for alternative minimum tax;

insurance companies;

persons holding capital securities as part of a hedging, conversion, integrated or constructive sale transaction;

Table of Contents

persons holding capital securities as part of a straddle; or persons whose functional currency is not the United States dollar.

In addition, this summary does not include any description of the tax laws of any state, local or foreign government.

Furthermore, if a partnership holds capital securities, the tax treatment of a partner will generally depend upon the status of the partner and the activities of the partnership. If you are a partner of a partnership holding capital securities, you should consult your own tax advisor.

This summary is based on the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (which we refer to as the Code), the Treasury regulations promulgated under the Code and administrative and judicial interpretations thereof. These income tax laws, regulations and interpretations, however, may change at any time. Any change could be retroactive to the issuance date of the capital securities.

The authorities on which this summary is based are subject to various interpretations, and the opinions of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey L.L.P. are not binding on the Internal Revenue Service (which we refer to as the IRS) or the courts. No rulings have been or will be sought from the IRS with respect to the transactions described in this prospectus supplement. Either the IRS or the courts could disagree with the explanations or conclusions contained in this summary. Nevertheless, Squire, Sanders & Dempsey L.L.P. has advised us that they believe that the opinions expressed in this summary, if challenged, would be sustained by a court with jurisdiction in a properly presented case.

You should consult your own tax advisor regarding the tax consequences to you of the purchase, ownership and disposition of the capital securities, including the tax consequences under state, local, foreign and other tax laws. For a discussion of the possible redemption of the capital securities upon the occurrence of a Tax Event, see Certain Terms of the Capital Securities Redemption Redemption Upon a Special Event in this prospectus supplement.

Classification of USB Capital VII

In connection with the issuance of the capital securities, Squire, Sanders & Dempsey L.L.P. is of the opinion that under current law and assuming full compliance with the terms of the amended and restated trust agreement, and based upon certain facts and assumptions contained in such opinion, USB Capital VII will be classified as a grantor trust for United States federal income tax purposes and not as an association taxable as a corporation. As a result, for United States federal income tax purposes, you generally will be treated as owning an undivided beneficial ownership interest in the junior subordinated debentures. Thus, you will be required to include in your gross income your proportionate share of the interest income or original issue discount that is paid or accrued on the junior subordinated debentures. See below under the caption Interest Income and Original Issue Discount in this section.

Classification of the Junior Subordinated Debentures

U.S. Bancorp, USB Capital VII and you (by your acceptance of a beneficial ownership interest in a capital security) agree to treat the junior subordinated debentures as indebtedness for all United States tax purposes. In connection with the issuance of the junior subordinated debentures, Squire, Sanders & Dempsey L.L.P. is of the opinion that under current law, and based on certain representations, facts and assumptions set forth in its opinion, the junior subordinated debentures will be classified as indebtedness for United States federal income tax purposes.

Interest Income and Original Issue Discount

We anticipate that the junior subordinated debentures will not be issued with an issue price that is less than their stated redemption price at maturity. In this case, subject to the discussion below, the junior subordinated debentures will not be subject to the special original issue discount (which we refer to as OID) rules, at least upon initial issuance, so that you will generally be taxed on the stated interest on the junior subordinated debentures as ordinary income at the time it is paid or accrued in accordance with your regular method of tax accounting.

If, however, we exercise our right to defer payments of interest on the junior subordinated debentures, the junior subordinated debentures will become OID instruments at such time. In such case, you will be subject to the special OID rules described below. Once the junior subordinated debentures become OID instruments, they will be taxed as OID instruments for as long as they remain outstanding.

Under the OID economic accrual rules, the following occur:

regardless of your method of accounting, you would accrue an amount of interest income each year that approximates the stated interest payments called for under the terms of the junior subordinated debentures using the constant-yield-to-maturity method of accrual described in section 1272 of the Code;

the actual cash payments of interest you receive on the junior subordinated debentures would not be reported separately as taxable income;

any amount of OID included in your gross income (whether or not during a deferral period) with respect to the capital securities would increase your tax basis in such capital securities; and the amount of distributions in respect of such accrued OID would reduce your tax basis in such capital securities.

The United States Treasury regulations dealing with OID and the deferral of interest payments have not yet been addressed in any rulings or other interpretations by the IRS. It is possible that the IRS could assert that the junior subordinated debentures were issued initially with OID, merely because of our right to defer payments of interest. If the IRS were successful in this regard, you would be subject to the special OID rules described above, regardless of whether we exercise our option to defer payments of interest on such junior subordinated debentures.

Because the junior subordinated debentures are debt for tax purposes, any income you recognize on the capital securities will not be eligible for the corporate dividends received deduction or taxation for individuals at long-term capital gains rates as qualified dividend income.

Distribution of Junior Subordinated Debentures or Cash Upon Liquidation of USB Capital VII

As described under the caption Certain Terms of the Capital Securities – Optional Liquidation of USB Capital VII and Distribution of Junior Subordinated Debentures in this prospectus supplement, the junior subordinated debentures held by USB Capital VII may be distributed to you in exchange for your capital securities if USB Capital VII is liquidated before the maturity of the junior subordinated debentures, as long as we first receive:

the approval of the Federal Reserve System to do so, if that approval is then required under the Federal Reserve System's capital rules; and an opinion of independent counsel to the effect that the distribution of the junior subordinated debentures will not be taxable to you.

Under current law, except as described below, this type of distribution from a grantor trust would not be taxable. Upon such a distribution, you will receive your proportionate share of the junior subordinated debentures previously held indirectly through USB Capital VII. Your holding period and total tax basis in the junior subordinated debentures will equal the holding period and total tax basis that you had in your capital securities before the distribution.

If you receive junior subordinated debentures in exchange for your capital securities, you would accrue interest in respect of the junior subordinated debentures received from USB Capital VII in the manner described above under the caption Interest Income and Original Issue Discount in this section.

Table of Contents

In certain circumstances described above under the captions Certain Terms of the Capital Securities Redemption Upon a Special Event in this prospectus supplement, we may redeem the junior subordinated debentures and distribute cash in liquidation of USB Capital VII. This distribution of cash would be taxable as described below under Sales of Capital Securities or Redemption of Junior Subordinated Debentures in this section.

Sales of Capital Securities or Redemption of Junior Subordinated Debentures

If you sell your capital securities or receive cash upon redemption of the junior subordinated debentures, you will recognize gain or loss equal to the difference between:

the amount realized on the sale or redemption of the capital securities or junior subordinated debentures (less an amount equal to any accrued but unpaid qualified stated interest that you did not previously include in income, which will be taxable as interest income); and your adjusted tax basis in your capital securities or junior subordinated debentures sold or redeemed.

Your gain or loss will be a capital gain or loss, provided that you held the capital securities or junior subordinated debentures as a capital asset. The gain or loss will generally be a long-term capital gain or loss if you have held your capital securities or junior subordinated debentures for more than one year. Long-term capital gains of individuals derived with respect to capital assets held for more than one year are currently subject to tax at a maximum rate of 15% (this rate is scheduled to increase to 20% for tax years beginning after December 31, 2008). The deductibility of capital losses is subject to limitations.

Non-United States Holders

The following discussion only applies to you if you are not a United States person. As discussed above, the capital securities will be treated by the parties as evidence of undivided beneficial ownership interests in the junior subordinated debentures. See above under the caption Classification of USB Capital VII in this section.

U.S. Federal Withholding Tax

The 30% U.S. federal withholding tax will not apply to any payment of principal or interest (including OID) on the capital securities (or the junior subordinated debentures) provided that:

you do not actually (or constructively) own 10% or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of our voting stock within the meaning of the Code and the United States Treasury regulations;

you are not a controlled foreign corporation that is related to us through stock ownership;

you are not a bank whose receipt of interest on the capital securities (or the junior subordinated debentures) is described in section 881(c)(3)(A) of the Code; and either (a) you provide your name and address on an IRS Form W-8BEN (or other applicable form), and certify, under penalties of perjury, that you are not a United States person, or (b) you hold your capital securities (or junior subordinated debentures) through certain foreign intermediaries and you satisfy the certification requirements of applicable United States Treasury regulations. Special certification rules apply to non-United States persons that are pass-through entities.

If you cannot satisfy the requirements described above, payments of interest (including OID) made to you will be subject to the 30% U.S. federal withholding tax, unless you provide us with a properly executed (1) IRS Form W-8BEN (or other applicable form) claiming an exemption from, or reduction in the rate of, withholding under the benefit of an applicable tax treaty or (2) IRS Form W-8ECI (or successor form) stating that interest paid on the capital securities (or the junior subordinated debentures) is not subject to withholding tax because it is effectively connected with your conduct of a trade or business in the United States as discussed below under the caption U.S. Federal Income Tax in this section.

The 30% U.S. federal withholding tax will not apply to any gain that you realize on the sale, exchange, retirement or other disposition of the capital securities or junior subordinated debentures.

U.S. Federal Income Tax

If you are engaged in a trade or business in the United States and interest on the capital securities (or the junior subordinated debentures) is effectively connected with the conduct of that trade or business (and, if required by an applicable income tax treaty, is attributable to a United States permanent establishment), you will be subject to U.S. federal income tax on that interest on a net income basis (although exempt from the 30% withholding tax, provided the certification requirements discussed above under the caption U.S. Federal Withholding Tax are satisfied), in the same manner as if you were a United States person as defined under the Code. In addition, if you are a foreign corporation, you may be subject to a branch profits tax equal to 30% (or lower applicable treaty rate) of your earnings and profits for the taxable year, subject to adjustments, that are effectively connected with the conduct by you of a trade or business in the United States.

Any gain realized on the disposition of a capital security (or a junior subordinated debenture) generally will not be subject to U.S. federal income tax unless (1) that gain is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business by you in the United States (and, if required by an applicable income tax treaty, is attributable to a United States permanent establishment), or (2) you are an individual who is present in the United States for 183 days or more in the taxable year of that disposition, and certain other conditions are met.

U.S. Federal Estate Tax
