If you do not choose to enroll in the plan, First National Community Bancorp, Inc. will continue to send you cash dividends when and if any are declared.

RISK FACTORS

The purpose of the plan is to provide a convenient and useful service for First National Community Bancorp, Inc. shareholders. Nothing in this Prospectus represents a recommendation by First National Community Bancorp, Inc. or anyone else that a person buy or sell First National Community Bancorp, Inc. common stock. We urge you to read this Prospectus thoroughly before you make your investment decision regarding participation in the plan.

Before you invest in First National Community Bancorp, Inc. common stock, you should be aware that an investment in our common stock involves a variety of risks, including those described below. You should carefully read and consider these risks factors, together with all the other information contained in this Prospectus, before you decide whether to purchase First National Community Bancorp, Inc. common stock.

You will have a minimal influence on shareholder decisions.

Together, our directors, executive officers and trusts that they control hold 3,625,011 shares, representing 28.51% of the total number of shares outstanding as of March 30, 2007. Further, this percentage of ownership could increase if our directors and officers participate in the plan. Our directors and officers are able to significantly influence our management policies and decisions as well as issues that require a shareholder vote. If our directors and executive officers vote together, they could influence the outcome of certain corporate actions requiring shareholder approval, including the election of directors and the approval or non-approval of significant corporate transactions, such as the merger or sale of all or substantially all of our assets. Their interests may differ from the interests of other shareholders with respect to management issues.

Our issuance of additional shares of common stock could dilute or depress the value of your shares of our common stock.

First National Community Bancorp, Inc.'s Articles of Association authorize the issuance of up to 50 million shares of common stock. The issuance of additional stock within these limits may not require prior shareholder approval. Sales of additional shares of stock, or the perception that shares may be sold, could negatively affect the market price of our stock. The issuance of additional shares could also dilute the percentage ownership interest and corresponding voting power of the prior shareholders.

Regulatory restrictions may affect our ability to pay dividends.

Our ability to pay dividends to our shareholders is also subject to and limited by certain legal and regulatory restrictions.

The trading market for our common stock is not active.

There is a limited public market for the common stock of First National Community Bancorp, Inc. We cannot assure you that a more liquid or active trading market will develop. In a less active market, you may not be able to sell your shares when you would like to sell them.

Our future success is dependent on our ability to compete effectively in the highly competitive banking industry.

We face substantial competition in all phases of our operations from a variety of different competitors. Our future growth and success will depend on our ability to compete effectively in this highly competitive environment. We compete for loans, deposits and other financial services in our geographic market with other commercial banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions, finance companies, mutual funds, insurance companies, brokerage and investment banking firms and various other non-bank competitors.

Changes in the law and regulations may affect our ability to do business, our costs, and our profits.

We are subject to extensive federal supervision and regulation. These laws and regulations are intended to protect depositors, not shareholders. Any change in applicable laws or regulations may have a material effect on our business and prospects. We cannot predict the nature or the extent of the effect on our business or earnings that monetary policies, economic control, or new federal regulations may have in the future.

Changes in interest rates could make us less profitable.

Our profitability is dependant to a large extent on our net interest income. Net interest income is the difference between interest income on interest-earning assets and interest expense on interest-bearing liabilities. Like most financial institutions, we are affected by changes in general interest rate levels and by other economic factors beyond our control. In addition, interest rate risks can result from mismatches between the dollar amount of repricing or maturing assets and liabilities and is measured in terms of the ratio of the interest rate sensitive assets to interest rate sensitive liabilities. Although our management believes it has implemented strategies to reduce the potential effects of changes in interest rates on our results of operations, any substantial and prolonged change in market interest rates could adversely affect our operating results.

Our allowance for loan losses may prove to be insufficient to absorb potential losses in our loan portfolio.

Lending money is a substantial part of our business. However, every loan we make carries a certain risk of non-payment. We cannot assure you that our allowance for loan losses will be sufficient to absorb actual loan losses. We also cannot assure you that we will not experience significant losses in our loan portfolios that may require significant increases to the allowance for loan losses in the future. Although we evaluate every loan that we make against our underwriting criteria, we may experience losses by reasons or factors beyond our control. Some of these factors include changes in market conditions affecting the value of real estate and unexpected problems affecting the creditworthiness of our borrowers.

We determine the adequacy of our allowance for loan losses on an ongoing basis by considering various factors, including:

- An analysis of the risk characteristics of various classifications of loans;
- Previous loan loss experience;
- Specific loans that would have loan loss potential;
- Delinquency trends;
- Estimated fair value of the underlying collateral;
- Current economic conditions;
- The view of our regulators; and
- Geographic and industry loan concentration.

Changes in real estate values may adversely impact our loans that are secured by real estate.

A significant portion of our loan portfolio consists of residential and commercial mortgages secured by real estate. These properties are primarily concentrated in northeastern Pennsylvania. Real estate values and real estate markets generally are affected by, among other things, changes in national, regional or local economic conditions, fluctuations in interest rates and the availability of loans to potential purchasers, changes in the tax laws and other governmental statutes, regulations and policies, and acts of nature. If real estate prices decline, particularly in northeastern Pennsylvania, the value of the real estate collateral securing the bank's loans could be reduced. This reduction in the value of the collateral would increase the number of non-performing loans and could have a material negative impact on our financial performance.

Common stock

You do not have control or authority to direct the price or time at which common stock is purchased or sold for plan accounts. Therefore, you bear the market risk associated with fluctuations in the price of common stock. The plan administrator will allocate shares purchased to four (4) decimal places; thus, there will likely always be a partial share in your plan account. This practice allows maximum investment of your dividends.

The plan does not represent a change in First National Community Bancorp, Inc.'s dividend policy, which will continue to depend upon earnings, financial and regulatory requirements and other factors, and which will be determined by First National Community Bancorp, Inc.'s Board of Directors from time to time. Shareholders who do not wish to participate in this plan will continue to receive cash dividends when and if declared. First National Community Bancorp, Inc. cannot provide any assurance whether, or at what rate, First National Community Bancorp, Inc. will continue to pay cash dividends.

DIVIDEND REINVESTMENT AND STOCK PURCHASE PLAN

The First National Community Bancorp, Inc. Dividend Reinvestment and Stock Purchase Plan follows. We present the plan in a question and answer format. Shareholders who do not choose to participate in the plan will continue to receive cash dividend payments, if and when cash dividends are declared and paid.

Purpose

1. What is the purpose of the plan?

The plan provides shareholders with a convenient and economical method of investing cash dividends and voluntary cash payments to purchase additional shares. Participants pay no brokerage commissions or service charges when they acquire additional shares of common stock through the plan.

Advantages

2. What are the advantages of the Dividend Reinvestment Plan?

Shareholders may:

- Reinvest cash dividends and invest voluntary cash payments in additional shares of common stock at a 5% discount, without paying service charges or brokerage commissions;
- Invest the full amount of all cash dividends in shares of common stock including fractional shares, which also earn dividends under the plan;
- Avoid safekeeping and record keeping costs through the free custodial and reporting services under the plan; and
- Regularly receive a detailed statement of account transactions in book entry form.

Administration

3. Who administers the plan for participants?

Registrar and Transfer Company is the plan administrator and will act as the agent for the participants. As agent for participants, the administrator will:

- hold shares in the name of its nominee as agent for plan participants;
- keep and maintain records;
- provide detailed statements of account to participants; and
- perform other duties related to the plan.

Any notices, questions, or other communications relating to the plan should include the participant's account number and tax identification number and should be addressed to:

In the event that the plan administrator resigns or ceases to act as the agent, First National Community Bancorp, Inc. will make other arrangements, as it deems appropriate, for the administration of the plan. The company may replace the administrator as the agent at any time.

Participation

4. Who is eligible to participate?

All common stock shareholders are eligible to participate in the plan. Shareholders may participate in the plan with respect to all or any portion of their shares. Shareholders will not be eligible to participate in the plan if they reside in a jurisdiction in which it is unlawful or compliance costs under state or local securities or blue sky laws are too high for the company to permit their participation.

A broker or nominee that is a record owner of common stock may participate in the plan on behalf of one or more beneficial owners of shares in accordance with the rules and regulations established by First National Community Bancorp, Inc.

5. How does an eligible shareholder become a participant?

All eligible shareholders may join the plan at any time by completing and signing the accompanying authorization form and returning it to the administrator. Additional authorization forms may be obtained from First National Community Bancorp, Inc. or Registrar and Transfer Company.

6. What does the authorization form provide?

The authorization form appoints the administrator as the agent to reinvest dividends on some or all shares registered under the plan, and to purchase additional shares with voluntary cash investments.

7. When may a shareholder join the plan?

A shareholder may join the plan at any time. If the administrator receives a properly completed authorization form at least 5 business days before a dividend record date, the administrator will reinvest the cash dividends payable on that date. Historically, the Board of Directors has declared and paid cash dividends on a quarterly basis. The Board of Directors reserves the right to change the dividend record and payment dates.

8. Is partial participation possible under the plan?

Yes. Shareholders may register all or any portion of their shares in the plan.

9. Is the right to participate in the plan transferable?

No. The right to participate in the plan is not transferable. A shareholder, participating in the plan, continues as a participant until the plan is terminated or until the shareholder gives notice of withdrawal or termination to the administrator.

Purchases

10. What is the source for shares of common stock purchased under the plan?

The administrator purchases shares at the company's discretion, directly from First National Community, in the open market, in negotiated transactions, or using a combination of these methods.

11. How many shares of common stock will the administrator purchase for a participant under the plan?

The number of shares depends on:

- the amount of cash dividends to be reinvested;

- the amount of any voluntary cash investment; and
- the applicable purchase price of the common stock.

The administrator will credit each participant's account with that number of shares, including any fractional shares computed to four decimal places, equal to the total amount to be invested divided by the applicable purchase price. All cash dividends on shares held in a participant's account, whether purchased through dividend reinvestment or voluntary cash investment, are automatically reinvested in additional shares of common stock.

12. When will shares of common stock be purchased for a participant under the plan?

The administrator will use cash dividends and voluntary cash investments to purchase common stock as soon as reasonably possible after the applicable dividend payment date, but not more than 30 business days after the payment date.

13. At what price will shares of Common Stock be purchased under the Plan?

When the administrator purchases shares of common stock from the company, the purchase price will be the fair market value of the common stock on the relevant date, less a 5% discount. The fair market value of the common stock is determined by averaging the daily average trades for the 10 trading days preceding the payment date, as reported by one or more brokerage firms selected by First National Community that make a market in First National Community's common stock.

In the event that there were no trades, or an insufficient number of trades (generally less than 500 shares) upon which to form a basis to determine fair market value within the 10 trading days, then the fair market value of the common stock may be determined by reference to other factors that the Board of First National Community deems appropriate. These factors may include, but are not limited to, in our sole discretion:

- average trades reported by market makers on dates that are recent but are prior to the 10 trading day period immediately preceding the investment date;
- prices at which the stock is known to have been traded in recent transactions;
- a multiple of First National Community's book value per share that we believe is consistent with the multiple of trading prices of companies similar to us but whose stock is more readily traded and quoted in the public markets; and
- a multiple of First National Community's annualized earnings per share.

When the administrator purchases shares of common stock in the open market or in negotiated transactions, the purchase price will be the weighted average of the prices actually paid for shares purchased for the relevant date, excluding all fees, brokerage commissions and expenses, less the 5% discount.

Voluntary Cash Payments

14. Who is eligible to make voluntary cash investments?

All shareholders who elect to have dividends reinvested under the plan may also elect to make voluntary cash payments.

15. What are the timing requirements and other limitations on voluntary cash payments?

The plan administrator must receive voluntary cash payments not more than 30 or less 5 business days prior to the dividend payment date. The administrator will return voluntary cash payments received too early or too late to the participant. Voluntary cash payments may not be less than $100 per calendar quarter or total more than $2,500 in any calendar quarter. We reserve the right, in our sole discretion, to determine whether voluntary cash payments are made on behalf of an eligible participant.

16. How does the voluntary cash payment option work?

To make a voluntary cash payment, a participant encloses a personal check drawn on a U.S. bank to the plan administrator with a completed payment form which is sent with each statement of account. Participants make personal checks drawn on a U.S. bank payable to Registrar and Transfer, Plan Administrator. Participants should include their social security number or taxpayer identification number and account number on the check.

The plan administrator will apply any voluntary cash payments received within the permissible time period to the purchase of shares of common stock on the upcoming investment date. The price is determined in accordance with provisions of the plan. Voluntary cash payments made by check or other draft must clear prior to the investment date. The plan administrator will promptly send an acknowledgment to participants confirming that the plan administrator has received the funds in time for investment on a particular investment date. A participant may obtain the return of any voluntary cash payment, if the plan administrator receives the request for return two business days prior to the dividend payment date. We do not pay interest on voluntary cash payments.

Reports to Participants

17. What kind of reports will be sent to participants in the plan?

Each participant in the plan receives a statement of account subsequent to each dividend payment date describing cash dividends and voluntary cash investments received, the number of shares purchased, the price per share and total shares accumulated under the plan. These statements will provide a record of the dates and costs of purchases on a quarterly basis. Participants should retain the statements for income tax purposes. Participants will also receive First National Community's annual and quarterly reports to shareholders, notices of shareholder meetings, proxy statements, and Internal Revenue Service information for reporting dividends received and commission expenses paid on their behalf.

Share Certificates; Safekeeping

18. Will the plan administrator issue certificates for shares of common stock purchased?

Unless requested in writing by a participant, the plan administrator will not issue certificates for shares of common stock purchased under the plan. The number of shares credited to a participant's account under the plan will be shown on the participant's periodic statements of account. This safekeeping feature protects against loss, theft or destruction of stock certificates. The plan administrator will issue certificates for whole shares withdrawn from the plan. All certificates delivered for safekeeping must be enrolled in the plan. The plan administrator will cancel certificates delivered for safekeeping and will issue new certificates in the name of the plan administrator; upon withdrawal, the plan administrator will cancel the plan administrator's certificates and issue new certificates in the name of the participant.

19. In whose name will certificates be registered when issued to participants?

Unless the participant directs otherwise, upon withdrawal from the plan, the plan administrator will issue shares in the name in which the participant maintains the dividend reinvestment account. If a participant requests that a certificate be issued in a different name, the request must bear the participant's own signature. If the account is registered in multiple names, all signatures must appear on the request. In both cases, a financial institution or broker or dealer must guarantee the signature(s). Upon a participant's death, the plan administrator will follow the instructions of the decedent's personal representative upon submission of appropriate proof of authority.

Withdrawal of Shares in Plan Accounts

20. How may participants withdraw shares purchased under the plan?

Participants may withdraw all or any portion of the shares credited to their account by completing the withdrawal notification information set forth on the reverse side of their account statement and specifying the number of shares to be withdrawn. The participant should mail the request for withdrawal to the plan administrator at the address provided on the account statement. The plan administrator will register certificates for whole shares so withdrawn in the name of the participant. If the administrator receives any request for withdrawal of shares credited to a participant's account less than 5 business days before the record date, the administrator will not affect the withdrawal until after the dividends are reinvested and the shares are credited to the participant's account. The administrator will affect any other request for withdrawal of a portion of the shares credited to a participant's account upon receipt of the request by the plan administrator. The administrator will continue to reinvest dividends on shares remaining in participants' account, unless participant withdraws all of the whole and fractional shares from the account, which will terminate participation in the plan.

21. May participants elect to sell withdrawn shares?

Yes. Participants may request that the plan administrator sell withdrawn shares. The plan administrator will not affect a request to sell all shares credited to a participant's account received from a participant after the ex-dividend date for a dividend until the plan administrator reinvests the participant's dividends for the applicable record date and credits the shares to the participant's account. Upon receipt, the plan administrator will declare a request to sell a portion of the shares credited to a participant's account effective. Participants should specify the number of shares to be sold in their request for withdrawal.

The plan administrator will arrange for the sale of the shares within 10 business days after receipt of the notice, and deliver a check for the net proceeds of the sale to the participant. The proceeds of the sale will be applied first to pay fees, brokerage commissions, applicable withholding taxes and transfer taxes, if any, incurred in connection with the sale. The plan administrator charges a fee of $10 (but not more than the proceeds of the sale of a fractional share) for the sale of shares held under the plan. All persons in whose names the account appears must sign a request for shares to be sold. The signatures must be guaranteed as specified in No. 19 above.

Termination of Participation in Dividend Reinvestment Plan

22. How does a participant withdraw from the Plan?

Participation in the plan is entirely voluntary. Participants may terminate their participation at any time by sending written notice to the plan administrator. When a participant terminates from the plan or upon termination of the plan by First National Community, the plan administrator will deliver a certificate for the number of whole shares credited to the participant's account, and a check representing the value of any fractional shares, less the applicable fee for the sale of the fractional share, based on the then current market value per share to the participant. Thereafter, all dividends will be paid in cash, or in stock dividends, if so declared by the Board of Directors, to the shareholder who withdraws from the plan. Participants who elect to discontinue participation in the plan are not eligible to make voluntary cash payments.

Any notice of termination received less than 5 business days prior to an investment date will not be effective until the administrator has reinvested dividends and the shares have been credited to the participant's account. A shareholder may elect to re-enroll in the plan at any time.

Federal Tax Information

23. What are the federal income tax consequences of participation in the plan?

We summarize the general current federal income tax consequences of participation in the plan in this response. Please consult your own tax advisor as to the specific tax consequences of particular account transaction, including the state tax consequences.

Reinvestment of Dividends. A participant in the plan is treated as having received, with respect to the cash dividend and reinvestment, a distribution to which Section 301 of the Internal Revenue Code applies. The amount of the distribution is the fair market value of the stock received on the date the stock is purchased. The amount of the distribution that the participant includes in income, as a dividend, is the amount that is paid out of the company's current and/or accumulated earnings and profits. Most regular quarterly cash dividends paid from earnings will be treated as a contribution subject to ordinary income. The distribution, to the extent it exceeds the company's earnings and profits, is a return of capital and reduces the adjusted basis of the stock. The portion of the distribution that exceeds the company's earnings and profits and the adjusted basis of the stock is treated as gain from the sale or exchange of property.

Voluntary Cash Payments. A participant who makes a voluntary cash payment for the purchase of stock under the plan is treated as having received a distribution to which Section 301 of the Code applies in an amount equal to the excess of the fair market value of the stock received on the date of the purchase over the amount of the voluntary cash payment made by the participant. The federal income tax treatment of the distribution depends on the amount of the company's current and/or accumulated earnings and profits as we discussed above.

Brokerage Commissions. A participant who receives a distribution, as discussed above, is also treated as receiving a distribution to which Section 301 of the Code applies in an amount equal to a pro rata share of any brokerage commission or other related charges paid by the company in connection with the purchase of stock on behalf of the shareholder. The federal income tax treatment of any the distribution depends upon the amount of the company's current and/or accumulated earnings and profits as discussed above. Most brokerage commissions paid by the company will be treated as taxable ordinary income.

Additional Information. A participant's tax basis in the stock acquired under the plan will generally equal the total amount of the distribution that the shareholder is treated as receiving, as discussed above, plus, in the case of a shareholder who makes a voluntary cash payment, the amount of the voluntary payment. A shareholder's holding period in stock acquired under the plan generally begins on the date following the date on which the stock is credited to the participant's plan account. In the case of any shareholder as to whom federal income tax withholding on distributions is required, and in the case of any foreign shareholder whose taxable income under the plan is subject to federal income tax withholding, dividends will be reinvested net of the required amount of tax withheld.

Other Information

24. What happens if First National Community declares a stock dividend or affects a stock split?

The administrator adds any shares issued in connection with a stock split or stock dividend on common stock held under the plan to the participant's plan account. Stock dividends or split shares distributed on shares held directly by a participant will be mailed to the participant in the same manner as to shareholders who do not participate in the plan.

25. If First National Community has a rights offering, how will a participant's entitlement be computed?

A participant's entitlement in a rights offering is based upon his or her total holdings, in the same manner as dividends are computed currently. The company will issue rights certificates for the number of whole shares only, however, and sell rights based on the fractional shares held in a participant's account.

We will mail the proceeds of the sale of fractional certificates, less commissions and taxes, if any, directly to the participant.

26. How are shares in a participant's account voted at a meeting of the shareholders?

If, on a record date for a meeting of shareholders, there are shares in a participant's plan account, the administrator will send proxy materials for the meeting to the participant. A participant is entitled to vote all shares of common stock credited to his or her account. The participant may also vote his or her shares at the meeting in person or by proxy.

27. What are the responsibilities and liabilities of First National Community and the plan administrator?

First National Community and the plan administrator shall not be liable for any act taken in good faith or for any good faith omission to act, including without limitation, any claims of liability:

- arising out of a failure to terminate a participant's account upon his or her death;
- with respect to the prices at which shares of First National Community's common stock are purchased or sold;
- the times when or the manner in which purchases or sales are made;
- the decision whether to purchase shares of common stock on the open market, from First National Community or in private transactions; or
- fluctuations in the market value of the Common Stock; and
- any matters relating to the operation or management of the plan.

First National Community cannot assure that participants will make a profit on, or protect participants against a loss from, the common stock purchased by or for participants under the plan.

All transactions in connection with the plan will be governed by the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and are subject to all applicable federal tax or securities laws.

28. May the plan be amended, modified or discontinued?

Yes. The Board of Directors of First National Community, at its discretion, may amend, modify, suspend or terminate the plan and will endeavor to notify participants of any amendment, modification, suspension or termination. The Board of Directors may, for whatever reason, at any time, as it may determine in its sole discretion, terminate a participant's participation in the plan after mailing a notice of intention to terminate to the participant at the participant's address as it appears on the plan administrator's records. In addition, the Board of Directors of First National Community and the plan administrator may each adopt reasonable procedures for the administration of the plan. The Board of Directors has the sole authority to interpret the plan in the manner that it deems appropriate in its absolute discretion.

29. Who will bear the costs of the purchases made under the plan?

First National Community will pay all costs of administration of the plan. Participants will incur no brokerage commissions or other charges for purchases made under the plan. A participant who requests that the plan administrator sell shares of common stock held in the plan will incur brokerage fees incurred in connection with the sale.

30. May a participant pledge shares purchased under the plan?

No. A participant who wishes to pledge shares credited to a plan account must request the withdrawal of the shares in accordance with the procedures outlined in response to Question No. 20, above.

Use of Proceeds
