Comments of American Public Education on Recent Military Tuition Assistance Developments

American Public Education, Inc. today commented on the recent disclosures by the U.S. Army and U.S. Marine Corps indicating changes to U.S. Department of Defense (DoD) voluntary education Tuition Assistance (TA) programs.

The Company understands that the U.S. Army and U.S. Marine Corps are suspending new TA enrollments until the current “fiscal situation matures.” The company believes Marines and Soldiers will be allowed to complete current course enrollments using TA, but will not be allowed to submit new requests for TA.

However, the Department of Defense (DoD) Comptroller recently issued guidance indicating that the services should consider significant reductions in funding new TA applicants, effective immediately and for the duration of the current fiscal situation. The Company believes that other branches are considering changes to tuition assistance.

American Public Education is unable to estimate the potential impact of a suspension or reduction of the tuition assistance benefit, how long the suspensions will remain in place, whether they will become permanent, or whether other services will take similar actions. The company believes that most service members have access to alternatives when considering how to finance their tuition, including through Veteran GI Bill Education programs, or through Federal Student Aid programs. However, the Company does not know whether service members will find these alternatives attractive. And, the Company does not know whether the current fiscal situation will impact the availability or timeliness of access to these alternative sources of funding, such as due to delays at the Department of Veterans Affairs in the event of an increase in participation or because of potential staffing cuts.

The following table sets forth the approximate percentage of the Company’s full year 2012 revenues from tuition assistance programs by branch of service:

Air
Force	15	%
Army	14	%
Marine	4	%
Navy	3	%
Coast Guard	2	%
Total:	37	%

As an institution of higher learning committed to serving the military community, American Public University System stands ready to help its service members understand these changes and obtain the affordable education that they have so rightly earned through their hard work and service to our country.

American Public Education Announces Increase to Share Repurchase Programs

American Public Education, Inc. today announced that its Board of Directors increased the authorization under its existing share repurchase program by $15 million worth of shares of the Company's common stock. This amount is in addition to the existing authorization, which as of December 31, 2012, permitted the repurchase of up to $8.0 million dollars of shares.

Subject to market conditions, applicable legal requirements and other factors, the repurchases may be made in open market transactions or privately negotiated transactions. The authorization does not obligate the Company to acquire any shares, and purchases may be commenced or suspended at any time based on market conditions and other factors that the Company deems appropriate.

This repurchase program is in addition to the previously existing program to repurchase an amount of shares equivalent to those issued under equity compensation programs during 2013.

The total number of shares of American Public Education common stock outstanding as of February 25, 2013, was 17,802,678.
